The Hon. James M. Smith having received a majority of the whole number of votes polled, was declared duly elected Speaker of the House of Representatives of Georgia.

Mr. McMillan of Habersham moved that a committee of three be appointed to conduct the Speaker elect to his seat, which motion prevailed, and the Chair appointed as such committee Messrs. McMillan of Habersham, Griffin of Houston, and Cumming of Richmond.

To the presiding officer of the House of Representatives:

Sir: I herewith transmit the papers in the contested election case of Bibb county, together with the letter of the Secretary of State to Governor R. B. Bullock. Notwithstanding the recommendations in that letter, I think best to refer the whole matter to the House, as the proper judge of the qualifications of its own members.

Benjamin Conley, Governor.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to consider and report, for the information and action of the House, who are the Representatives elect from the county of Bibb.

1. Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Georgia, That Rufus B. Bullock, so-called Governor of this State, who has resigned his office and fled the State, charged with high crimes, in intimating, as he does intimate, in a letter, bearing date 23d October, 1871, addressed to his political friends and the people of Georgia, that a majority of the House of Representatives had pledged themselves to vote for articles of impeachment against him, without investigation, and that the Senate had determined to unseat a sufficient number of Republican Senators to secure his conviction, without regard to the truth and validity of the charges, has grossly defamed this General Assembly, by charges which are utterly false.

2. That the statement in the same letter, to the effect that any known portion of the people of Georgia have recently denounced or ignored the Constitution of the United States, is utterly false and defamatory of the people of this State.

3. That there is a vacancy in the office of Governor of said State, and that, in the opinion of this General Assembly, Hon. L. N. Trammell, President of the Senate, is the person who is entitled ex officio, as such President is entitled under the Constitution of this State, to exercise the powers of the Executive Department during the continuance of said vacancy.

4. That a joint committee of two from the House and one from the Senate be appointed to wait on the Hon. Benjamin Conley, who, as former President of the Senate, is now exercising the powers of the Executive Department, and communicate to him the third of these resolutions, and report what he may answer thereto.

On motion of Mr. Phillips of Echols, the House adjourned until to-morrow at 10 o'clock A. M.

 Mr Speaker:
The Senate has agreed to a resolution appointing a committee of two on the part of the Senate, and three on the part of the House of Representatives, to wait on the Hon. Benjamin Conley, and inform him that both branches of the General Assembly are now organized and ready to receive from him any communication which he may have to submit, and have appointed, on the part of the Senate, as such committee, Messrs. Lester and Brock.

The resolution of the Senate, providing for a joint committee to inform the Hon. Mr. Jackson introduced the following resolution:

Resolved, That Rufus B. Bullock, late Governor of the State of Georgia, who has resigned his office, and left the State under circumstances creating grave suspicion that he is guilty of high crimes and misdemeanors, has, in charging, in a letter bearing date 23d October, 1871, addressed to his political friends and the people of Georgia, that a majority of the House of Representatives had pledged themselves to vote for articles of impeachment against him without investigation, and that the Senate had determined to unseat a sufficient number of Republican Senators to secure his conviction, without regard to the truth and validity of the charges, defamed this General Assembly by charges which are untrue.

That the statement in the same letter to the effect, that the people of Georgia have recently denounced or ignored the Constitution of the United States, is false and defamatory of the people of this State.

On the contrary, we assert that the people of this State do now, as they did six months ago, (when, according to the letter of the said Rufus B. Bullock, they were peaceably disposed,) acquiesce in the result of the war, and neither entertain any hostility towards the United States, nor deny to any person within the limits of the State the equal protection of the laws.

Mr. Jackson moved to call up the original resolutions on this subject, offered by Mr. Scott on yesterday, and the adoption of the foregoing resolution as a substitute for the same.
FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1871.

ClaiBorne Snead, Chairman.

Mr. Scott moved to strike out the word "Jefferson's," in the rules of 1870, and insert "Cushing's."

The motion was withdrawn, but was renewed by Mr. Hudson and lost.

Mr. Goldsmith moved to separate the Committee on Agriculture and Manufactures, which was lost.

On motion of Mr. Rawls, the report of the committee was adopted as a whole.

The committee on the election in Bibb county made the following report:

Mr. Speaker:

The committee to whom was referred the matter of the doubtful election in the county of Bibb, and who were required to make a report of the names of the true members elect of your honorable body from said county, report:

In the light of the laws relating to contested elections, guided by the legal evidence to them submitted by the House, as transmitted to its presiding officer from the Executive Department, and after a distinct announce-ment, at the hour of seven o'clock and fifty-five min-utes on Friday, the third instant, by each and every of the claimants of seats, that no evidence other than that above, was desired by them to be introduced, and fur-ther, after hearing, fully, all of said claimants, each in the interest of his own cause, your committee conclude that Augustus O. Bacon, Charles A. Nutting and John B. Ross were elected, and that the said members elect now are entitled to their seats in the House of Representatives.

Accordingly, your committee recommend the adop-tion of the following resolution:

Resolved, That Augustus O. Bacon, Charles A. Nut-ting and John B. Ross, are hereby declared to be the members elect of this House from the county of Bibb, and that they now be sworn and seated as such.

GARNETT McMILLAN, Chairman.

Mr. Rawls moved to make said report the special order for next Monday.

Mr. Snead called the previous question. The call was sustained, and the motion of Mr. Rawls was lost.

The report of the committee was adopted, and Messrs. Augustus O. Bacon, Charles A. Nutting and John B. Ross, Representatives elect from the county of Bibb, presented themselves and were sworn in.

Mr. Netherland offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Mr. Graham offered the following resolution:

Whereas, It is currently reported that Mr. L. C. Jones, who occupies a seat on this floor as a member from the county of Macon, is a citizen of the county of Fulton, and resides therein:

Be it therefore resolved, That the Committee on Privileges and Elections, so soon as they are appointed, be instructed to inquire into the facts in said case, and report thereon.

Mr. Clower moved that the Messenger be required to procure and furnish each member of this House with a copy of the Journal of the House of Representatives of 1870.
Which motion prevailed.

The following message was received from his Excellency the Governor, through Mr. Atkinson, his Secretary, to-wit:

Mr. Speaker:
I am directed by his Excellency the Governor to deliver to the House of Representatives a communication in writing.
Which communication was taken up and read, and is as follows:

Executive Department,
Atlanta, Ga., November 4, 1871

To the Senate and House of Representatives:
The unexpected resignation of his Excellency Governor Bullock has devolved upon me, as President of the Senate, the exercise of the functions pertaining to the Executive Department.
In entering upon the discharge of this laborious and responsible task, at this exciting period in our history, I can but express the diffidence which I feel in assuming this weighty responsibility. I enter upon the discharge of these duties, however, with the fixed purpose that I will, during the limited period of my official term, do all in my power to promote peace, harmony and good will among our people, and to advance the best interests of the State.

While it is well known to you and the people of Georgia, that I have been, and am now, a consistent and unyielding Republican, I shall not, in the discharge of my Executive duties, permit politics to have anything whatever to do with my conduct. While in my present office, I am Governor of the whole people of the State, without regard to party distinctions; and I invite all, without reference to race, color or party alliance, who may have business connected with my department, to approach me freely and make known their wishes at any time, with the assurance that I will do all in my power to promote the interests of each in every matter pertaining to my official duties, to the extent of my ability.

It seems to me that we have had enough of wrangling and strife, and crimination and recrimination. The country needs repose and quiet, which can never be promoted by continually fomenting political strife. We have had experience enough to demonstrate that nothing has been gained to the people of the South by the adoption of a defiant and boisterous course, while the power rests in the Government, backed by a vast majority of the people of the Union. Under these circumstances, it is my sincere wish that every department of the government of this State, and every class of people, may so shape their conduct that there may be no reason for any declaration of martial law, any suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, or any further reconstruction. If the people of the South will be law-abiding and law-enforcing, and lay aside all extreme measures, my opinion is that the day is not far distant when the Congress of the United States will proclaim, by act, universal amnesty, thereby restoring every citizen of the South to the full measure of citizenship, with all the rights pertaining to the same. This is a consummation devoutly to be hoped for at the earliest day possible.
FINANCES.

A very large proportion of the property of the people of this State was destroyed by the late unfortunate war, leaving our people greatly impoverished, and very much discouraged. They have struggled, however, with an energy and zeal that are highly commendable. We see around us on every hand the signs of returning prosperity, which is very gratifying to the heart of every patriot. But the heavy burdens of the Government have a very depressing effect. The taxes are much higher than they were before the war, while the property owned by the people of the State, upon which taxes are to be paid, is infinitely less. Under these circumstances, it is a question well worthy the attention of every department of the Government how we may so administer the affairs of the State as to impose the lightest burdens upon the people, and secure the greatest efficiency in the administration of public affairs. In my opinion, it is the imperative duty of the Legislative and Executive Departments of the Government to do every thing that can be done, consistently with reason and an enlightened policy, to reduce taxation and remove the burdens under which our people now groan. To this end, it is my fixed purpose to curtail all unnecessary expenses in every matter connected with my department; to cut off all supernumeraries—if any be found—from positions, and to administer the affairs of the Executive Department upon principles of the strictest economy, not expending a single dollar unless it is actually necessary to do so. In this matter I trust and believe I shall have the hearty co-operation of the General Assembly, and that you will so shape your legislation as to satisfy the people of the State that the Government is in the hands of those who have regard for their interests, and who are determined to remove from them every burden which is not absolutely necessary to be borne. And in this connection, I beg to state in advance that I can sanction no legislation of any character which looks to wasteful extravagance, or to an unnecessary expenditure of the people's money. We must economise in such ways as to do justice to the tax-payers, and restore popular confidence in the Government. The public expenditures should not be enlarged, nor the public debt increased, unless upon the most solid and substantial considerations.

On account of the short period since I entered upon my executive duties, I am unable to give to the General Assembly a statement of the public debt, or to inform you of the disposition made of the bonds of the State authorized by the General Assembly to be issued. I will, however, take prompt steps to inquire into the whole matter, and most earnestly urge upon the Legislative Department of the Government to make thorough investigation into this matter, and I will most cheerfully give all the aid of the Executive branch of the Government, so as to have this important subject fully and clearly understood.

EXECUTION OF THE LAWS.

It is well known to the General Assembly that violations of the law, growing, in a great measure, no doubt, out of the demoralization which always follows from a war of the magnitude of that through which we have just passed, have been alarmingly frequent in this State, and it is certainly the duty of every public officer, and every good citizen, to do everything in his power to discountenance and check lawlessness and crime of every character. So long as popular sentiment is not decided upon this question, and criminals can feel that they have popular countenance, we can expect but little improvement. It, therefore, becomes the duty of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Government to take a firm and decided stand in favor of law and order, and to punish crime wherever it may be legally shown to exist, no matter whether the perpetrator may be high or low, rich or poor. To this end, the General Assembly should enact such laws, if there be any defect in our present system, as are necessary to give the courts full power over this subject, and the courts and the juries should take hold of this matter with decision and energy, and teach criminals that the law cannot be violated with impunity; and it will be a source of pride and pleasure to me, while exercising the executive functions of the government, to aid, in every possible manner, in the execution of the laws, both civil and criminal. When a court and jury have investigated a case calmly and dispassionately, and the law has been administered impartially, the case will have to be an extreme one, having some features of mitigation that absolutely call for executive action, before I shall interfere and arrest the execution of the criminal laws. The safety, peace and prosperity of all depend upon the prompt and vigorous execution of the criminal laws in the present deranged condition of our society. In this matter, I shall cheerfully co-operate with the other departments of the government in all measures intended to promote the public good, and to restore confidence and quiet, and I respectfully solicit the aid of all good citizens in every portion of the State, without regard to party affinities, race or color, in support of the government in this important work. Let us, by our conduct, show to the world that we are still capable of self-government, and that there is virtue, intelligence and integrity enough among our people to secure all the ends for which government is instituted and maintained. If we will take this course, we will relieve much of the apprehension which exists at the present day, and will do much to restore confidence among our people, and secure immigration, the influx of capital and the general development of the resources of the State, and will thereby remove all possible pretext for Federal interference of any character in our local affairs.
POPULAR EDUCATION.

The General Assembly, at its last session, enacted a law providing for public schools in this State, which, in the main, meets my hearty co-operation. The act, as is the case in the inauguration of every new system, probably has some defects which a year's reflection and practice may have suggested to those who are now intrusted with the responsible duty of representing the people. But I trust a system of popular education may meet with general favor, and commend itself to all. It is very important that we give our people the advantages of a liberal education in all cases where we have the means to do so, and that we should place within the reach of every citizen, the means of acquiring the rudiments of a common English education. Our republican institutions rest upon the virtue and intelligence of the people, and it seems to me to be a patriotic duty to encourage the general diffusion of knowledge by every means within our power.

In every country where a wise system of popular education has been adopted, the results have been such as to demonstrate the wisdom of the policy. Take, as an illustration, the kingdom of Prussia, which was overrun and trampled under foot by Napoleon the Great. That then small, second-rate power, after the storm of revolution had swept over Europe, adopted the most liberal and extensive system of popular education of any other power upon that continent. The education of the children of Prussia was made compulsory. Parents were not permitted to bring them up in ignorance. In France, where the arts and sciences have been encouraged and the higher branches of education have been carried to an extent scarcely equalled by any other country, popular education has been greatly neglected, and the result has been that in a little over half a century, the dejected and down-trodden kingdom of Prussia has risen to the magnitude of a first-class power, and has humbled the mighty empire of France at her feet. It is not necessary for me to consume time by citing other instances. I presume that no intelligent man who has investigated this question, can doubt that in the education of the masses rests the greatest security of our Government in the future, and the greatest power for the development of our vast resources.

I can but commend the wisdom and forethought of the late General Assembly in laying down as one fundamental provision of the system in this State, that the different races shall be separate in the schools. We can have no mixed schools. It is not for the interest of either race that it should be so. While there should be equal justice done in the distribution of the public funds for the education of the children of both races, our schools should be separate, and our colleges should be separate.

STATE UNIVERSITY AND AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

I cannot too strongly commend to the General Assembly the importance of a liberal endowment to our State University. No one who reads the history of the State, and the provisions on the subject incorporated into the earlier constitutions, can doubt that it was the intention of our fathers to establish and maintain in Georgia a first-class university; and it is a matter of deep regret that the people of Georgia have so long failed to carry out in all its munificence and magnitude this grand scheme of those wise and great men who laid the foundations of our government. Under our present system, it becomes a matter of necessity that we develop to the highest extent the minds of our sons and daughters. We have vast physical resources, probably unsurpassed by any State in the Union, but they can never be fully developed until we have first developed the mental resources of the people. We must educate our sons for every department in life. It is not enough that we have, as in the past, a respectable college where Latin and Greek and the other studies connected with the old college curriculum are taught. Under our present system, we need not only educated lawyers, doctors and divines, but we need educated farmers, mechanics and chemists, and educated men in every department of life, and we need an institution in our own State, where the young men of Georgia can be prepared for these various departments. In other words, we need a university where those who are studying for the law or for the ministry, may be taught Latin and Greek, and all the branches necessary to accomplish them in the pursuit which they have chosen. But, connected with this, we need a school of medicine, where a young man desiring, after he has graduated in college, to make the practice of medicine his avocation, can completely prepare himself for that field of usefulness. This might be done by connecting with the university one or more of our present medical colleges. We already have a law school connected with the university. We need also a department where civil engineering can be taught to greater advantage, than we are now able to teach it. We need a department where applied chemistry and applied mathematics can be taught as fully as in any other institution, so that a young man who desires to make himself a practical chemist, can get his education at home; or, if he desires to make himself a master mechanic he can be educated for that department; (or, if he desires to become an architect he can be accomplished for that department,) and so with every useful branch of knowledge. In this way, the State of Georgia would be able to educate all her sons at home, and to draw within her bosom, to receive a liberal education, hundreds and even thousands of the youth of other Southern States. The endowment for this purpose should be a liberal one, which might well be made by issuing bonds of the State, having fifty or an hundred years to run, payable to the university, the interest only to be paid annually, and the amount should be large enough to endow every professorship necessary to make the university such an one as Georgia might well be proud of.
In connection with this, a system should be established by the erection of mess-halls or otherwise, which would afford board to the students at the university at the lowest possible rate, and in all the practical departments of the university not taught in the other colleges of the State, tuition should be made free so as to enable the sons of the poorest men in the State, who have intellect and capacity, to enjoy all the advantages necessary to fit them for a high degree of usefulness. Under our old system, the advantages of a collegiate and even a liberal education were confined almost exclusively to the sons of the wealthy. Many of the sons of the poorer class are every way their equal in point of intellect and moral worth, and there is no just reason why they should be excluded from these important advantages. It therefore becomes the duty of the State to see to it that those who are bright, intelligent, promising boys, who would make men of future usefulness, have the advantages of a liberal education at the public expense. Their course in after life would soon demonstrate that the money was well expended, and it would be paid back to the State in the development of her resources and the advancement of her interests, with a hundred fold added.

In my judgment, there is no possible way in which half a million, or even a million, of dollars could be invested which would redound so much to the future glory, grandeur and greatness of our noble old State. I especially commend this matter to the earnest and serious consideration of this General Assembly.

In recommending the endowment of the State University, I intend nothing unfriendly to the denominational colleges. They have done much to elevate the standard of education in Georgia, and have been and still are institutions of which not only the denominations to which they belong, but the whole people of the State, may be justly proud. I would say, therefore, to our people, patronize them much more liberally than heretofore. Let them go forward in their career of usefulness. But when they have turned out a young man as a graduate who desires to enter upon any profession or calling, for which his education there has not fully fitted him, let the university of our own State be open to him, that he may go there and complete his education. In this manner, the whole system may be harmonized, and all of our colleges work together with a good understanding, each aiding the other in its noble work.

If the Legislature should think proper to endow the university liberally in the manner proposed, it would then, in my judgment, be good policy to turn over to the State Agricultural Society the Land Scrip which has been generously donated by the Congress of the United States and to permit said society, as the trustee of the State, to endow an Agricultural College at Milledgeville, with a branch at Dahlonega, where all that pertains to a practical agricultural education may be obtained by the youth of our State. In this manner all conflict upon this question will be reconciled, and all conflicting interests served in a manner that would tend to the future growth and prosperity of the State.

Before dismissing this subject, I would further remark that justice demands an endowment of the Atlanta University for the colored population of our State, which will be sufficient to provide for all their wants at their present stage of advancement. By making reasonable provision for them and building up their college in this State, we forever settle the vexed question which would become a very troublesome one if they should seek admittance into the University of the State, and carry out the good understanding which has already been inaugurated between the two races, that not only their schools but their colleges are to be kept perpetually separate and distinct from each other.

THE STATE DEBT.

The reports of the Comptroller General and Treasurer will be laid before you at an early day. On account of the pressure of other duties to which I have been subject since I entered upon the discharge of the Executive functions, I have had no time to examine them carefully and prepare any comments upon them. They will, however, doubtless give you a correct statement of the present indebtedness of the State.

While I regret that our liabilities have been increased to the amount already reached, and would advise great caution upon this subject in the future, I cannot too strongly impress upon you the convictions of my own mind as to the importance of maintaining the public faith inviolate. No State in the Union has maintained a higher or more unsullied character for integrity and the faithful performance of her obligations, in connection with all financial matters, than our own beloved Georgia; and whatever may be the burdens to which we are now subject, and whether wisely or unwisely incurred, we should meet them with that spirit of integrity and honor which has always characterized the people of Georgia, and their representatives who have been our predecessors, and which will, I trust, always continue to be a subject of just pride. Whatever may be our misfortunes, or our depressed condition, let it never be said that the State of Georgia has violated her plighted faith, or failed to regard as sacred and meet promptly all her legal and moral obligations.

In concluding this communication, I desire again to urge upon you the importance of moderation, wise caution and harmony in all our official action, and sincerely invoke the blessings of Almighty God upon our beloved State.

2d. In all cases of election by the House the Speaker shall vote. In other cases he shall not vote, unless the House shall be equally divided, or unless his vote, if given to the minority, will make the division equal, and in such case of equal division, the question shall be lost.

4th. All committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise ordered by House.

If any member, in speaking, or otherwise, transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or may call to order; in which case

I am directed by his Excellency the Governor to deliver to the House of Representatives a communication in writing, with accompanying document:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
ATLANTA, GA., NOVEMBER 11, 1871.

To the General Assembly:

I have the honor to transmit herewith the annual report of the Superintendent of Public Work upon State-aid railroads for the year ending October 1, 1871, made in pursuance of a joint resolution of the Legislature. Approved September 21, 1868.

The report is very full and comprehensive, and contains a large amount of valuable information upon the subject to which it is devoted. It embraces a complete alphabetical tabular statement of the railroads to which
State aid has been granted, the date when such aid was granted, the date of the charter of each road, the amount of capital stock allowed by the charter, and the amount per mile for which the indorsement of the State was authorized by law to be given. It also embraces the reports of the officers of some of these companies, giving a complete and detailed statement of the condition of their roads, the amount of capital stock subscribed, the number of bonds issued and indorsed by the State, the number of miles completed, the cost of construction and equipment, etc., etc. The officers of a large number of these roads, however, have failed to make reports, and the Superintendent of Public Works is therefore unable to furnish reliable and satisfactory information in reference to them.

There are also included in the report, tables showing the value of property in the counties through which many of these roads pass, and a comparison of the value of such property for the years 1866, 1867, 1868, 1869 and 1870.

The attention of your honorable body is respectfully invited to the recommendations contained in the report in reference to the public buildings of the State, and to the map of the State, as well as to the very able and elaborate suggestions upon the subject of a direct and unobstructed water communication between the great Mississippi Valley and the Atlantic Ocean, and I trust that these recommendations and suggestions may meet with your earnest and serious consideration.

Garnett McMillan,

The following message was received from the Senate, through Mr. Hill, the Secretary thereof:

Mr Speaker:

The Senate has concurred in a resolution of the House of Representatives instructing the Treasurer to advance to each member and officer of this General Assembly one hundred dollars, and I am instructed to transmit the same forthwith to the House of Representatives.

The following message was received from the Executive Department, through Mr. Atkinson, the Secretary thereof, to-wit:

Mr Speaker:

I am directed by his Excellency the Governor to deliver to the House of Representatives a communication in writing, with accompany document.

The message was taken up and read, and is as follows:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
ATLANTA, G.A., November 11, 1871.

To the House of Representatives:

I herewith return, without my approval, a resolution rescinding a joint resolution of the last General Assembly Approved May 5, 1870.

My reasons for refusing to sanction this resolution are these:

The resolution, sought to be repealed by the one now under consideration, requires the Treasurer to pay only such warrants as are regularly issued by the Executive, and countersigned by the Comptroller General, in accordance to law. So long as I shall exercise the duties of the Executive office, I shall draw no warrants not in strict conformity to law, and no valid reason can be assigned why a warrant legally drawn and countersigned should not be paid by the Treasurer upon presentation. Anything tending to impede the payment thereof, is, in my judgment, unjust to the holders of legal warrants, and must tend to bring the good name of the State into discredit. We should endeavor to avoid doing anything tending directly or indirectly to work an injustice of this description, however slight, or to create an impression that the State does not meet with promptness and fidelity all legal draft upon her Treasurer.

The second branch of the resolution would meet my approval, if I could conscientiously sanction the first, although I deny the general proposition that a solemn act of the General Assembly can be suspended, modified or repealed by a mere joint resolution.

I had determined, before the action of the General Assembly upon this resolution, to draw no more warrants upon the twentieth section of the general appropriation act of October 25, 1870, and I shall adhere strictly to that determination in accordance with the indication of the sense of the General Assembly, until "final action" is had in the premises, unless the public good imperatively demands that I should act otherwise.

Benjamin Conley, Governor

Mr. Pou moved to make it the special order for next Tuesday, 14th instant.
Mr. Payne moved to refer the resolution and message to the Committee on the Judiciary, and make their report thereon the special order for next Monday, 13th instant.

By Mr. Howell—
A bill to authorize the sale of personal property at any place within the limits of Milton county.
Also, a bill to allow persons to make returns of their taxable property to the Clerk of the Superior Court, in certain cases.
Also, a bill to prevent fraud in laying off the homestead and exemption of personalty under the Constitution, and to make the same a misdemeanor.

On motion, the rules were suspended and the report of the Superintendent of Public Works, enclosed with the message of his Excellency the Governor, which was sent to this House on the 11th instant, was, without being read, referred to the Committee on Internal Improvements.

The message from the Executive Department which was sent to this House on yesterday, was taken up and read, and is in the following words:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
ATLANTA, GA., November 14, 1871.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I have the honor to transmit herewith the printed report of the Principal Keeper of the Georgia Penitentiary for the year ending December 31, 1870.

By reference to this report it will be seen that the outstanding indebtedness of the institution amounts to $7,771 99, and that there is a balance in favor of the Penitentiary amounting to $9,046 98. The claims against the institution are of long standing, and justice to the holders demands that provision should be made for their payment. I would respectfully recommend that such provision be made, and also that measures be adopted for the prompt collection and adjustment of the balances due the Penitentiary.

I also invite your attention to the fact that the contract under which the convicts were hired to Messrs. Grant, Alexander & Co., expired on the 28th day of June last. They are now under the control of these contractors, in pursuance of an arrangement made between my predecessor and Messrs. Grant, Alexander & Co., by which the old contract was to continue in force until revoked by Executive order, in which case the contractors were to receive not less than three months' notice of such revocation. This arrangement was made for the reason that there was no provision of law for the support of the convicts, had they been returned to the Penitentiary, and it was deemed best for the interest of the State that the old contract should be continued in force, in the terms stated. It will thus be seen that early legislation upon this important subject is rendered imperative, and whatever measures may be adopted by your honorable body in reference to this matter, it would seem but justice to the present contractors, that the terms of the arrangement above stated should be substantially complied with, and that they should receive reasonable notice of the disposition that is to be made of the convicts now under their control.

A reference to the report of the inspector, appointed by my predecessor, in behalf of the State, to investigate the matter of the condition of the convicts under the management of the present lessees, of file in this department, as well as to the report of the Principal Keeper, herewith submitted, will show that the treatment of the convicts has been humane, and in every way such as, under the circumstances, could be reasonably expected or desired, and will also tend greatly to allay the apprehension that has hitherto been felt by a considerable portion of the people of the State upon this subject.

BENJAMIN CONLEY, Governor

The Committee on Privileges and Elections, beg leave to report that they have had under consideration a resolution directing us to inquire into the election returns from the county of Calhoun, and respectfully submit that, after carefully examining the returns and the evidence, we find that an election was held at Morgan, the only precinct in said county, on the 20th, 21st and 22d days of December, according to the act approved October 3, 1870; that on the night of the 22d, after the closing of the polls, the managers counted out 276 votes; that W. G. Pierce received 206 votes, and that L. L. Boynton received 63 votes of the number counted, and there were 999 votes polled during the three days; and after the number had been counted as aforesaid, on the night aforesaid, the managers deposited the ballot box, with all the papers, in the grand jury room, and locked the door; but on returning, the morning of the 23d, the fact was ascertained that the ballot box, tally sheets and ballots had all been stolen and carried away from the court-house, and destroyed or concealed. Your committee, therefore, believing, under the law, that full legal returns had not been made by the managers from said county, because of a failure to ascertain who received the highest number of all the votes cast, recommend that a new election be ordered in said county, according to law, in such cases made and provided.

The House took up the special order for the day, the same being the bill to appoint commissioners to investigate the affairs of this State, with the amendments thereto, reported by the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. Phillips offered, as a substitute, a preamble and resolutions providing for the appointment of a joint committee of three from the Senate, and seven from the House, to make a thorough investigation into all departments of the government of this State, and report thereon to this General Assembly at its next session.

Mr. Simmons of Gwinnett offered, as a substitute for the whole, a preamble and resolution providing for the appointment of a joint committee of two from the Senate and five from the House, to make such investigation, and report thereon to this General Assembly at its next session.

The Speaker ruled that this substitute could not be submitted to the House until the report of the Committee on the Judiciary, recommending amendments to the bill, or the substitute of Mr. Phillips, one or the other, was disposed of.

The substitute of Mr. Simmons was read for the information of the House.

Mr. McMillan gave notice, that in the event of the passage of the bill, he would offer a resolution that each member of the House who voted for said resolution, shall give a check for the sum of one hundred dollars on the Treasurer, to be reserved out of his per diem pay, to be used in paying the commissioners appointed under said bill for their services, etc., which resolution was read for the information of the House.

Pending action on the bill before the House, the amendments thereto, and the substitute of Mr. Phillips, the hour of adjournment arrived.

Mr. Heidt moved that the House adjourn to meet again at 3 o'clock P. M. to-day  Lost.
Mr. Snead moved that the session be extended thirty minutes. This motion was also lost.

Leave of absence was granted to Messrs. Taylor, Lipsey, Flynt, Bateman, Howell, and Ormond; and to the Door-Keeper, Mr. Born.

The Speaker declared the House adjourned until 9 o'clock A. M. to-morrow.

The message from the Executive Department, sent to this House on yesterday, was taken up and read, and is in the following words:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
ATLANTA, GA., November 21, 1871.

To the House of Representatives:

I herewith return to your honorable body, in which it originated, the bill entitled "an act to provide for a special election for Governor, to fill the unexpired term of Rufus B. Bullock, late Governor, and for other purposes," with my dissent to the same, and the reasons therefor.

I have not adopted this course without the gravest consideration. As the object of the bill is to fill the unexpired term of Governor Bullock, which, at the time of his resignation, devolved by the Constitution upon myself, my personal pride would impel me promptly to affix my signature to it, since to refuse so to do is to put it in the power of those disposed to judge harshly, to attribute my action to interested motives. But however much I may feel inclined by giving the bill my assent to repel such imputations, I must in this, as in all my official action, be guided by my judgment rather than my pride.

Indeed it cannot but occur to every thinking man, that, if the Constitution authorizes so unseemly a proceeding as that presented by the bill under consideration, in which the Executive of the State is called upon to sit in solemn judgment upon the question of the propriety or impropriety of terminating his own official existence, the Constitution is in this respect at least anomalous. It is a settled rule, both of law and of common sense, that no man should be compelled or permitted to sit in judgment upon his own rights, not only because the selfishness of human nature leads one to judge in his own favor, but because a proud man would prefer to sacrifice his own rights, rather than subject himself to the suspicions of ungenerous critics. In so important a law as that now proposed, the people are entitled to the free judgment of both the Legislature and the Executive.

Nothing is more carefully guarded against in the Constitution than the happening of a contingency in which a public officer shall become personally interested in the exercise of the duties of his office. If the Governor be impeached, even, the President of the Senate is upon the trial to vacate his seat, since if conviction takes place, he becomes clothed with the functions of the Governor. The Judges of the Supreme Court, if interested in a case before them, are temporarily displaced by Circuit Judges selected by the Governor. If a case arise in which a Judge of the Superior Courts is interested, the law provides that he shall not preside. And generally, by the Constitution and laws, by the rules of legislative bodies and by common consent of all publicists it is, as I have said, a settled rule that no one shall be permitted or compelled to exercise his public functions in a matter directly involving his own interests. Were the duty imposed a mere ministerial one, in which I was called upon simply to do an act, in which I was not bound by my oath of office to exercise my judgment, the case would be different.

I have said thus much because I cannot but feel that the General Assembly, in the passage of this bill, has not fully considered the position in which it places myself; and because I cannot think so strange an anomaly as its presentation to me for my signature was ever contemplated in the Constitution of the State.

The Constitution, article four, section one, paragraph four is as follows:

"In case of the death, resignation or disability of the Governor, the President of the Senate shall exercise the Executive powers of the Government, until such disability be removed, or a successor is elected and qualified. And in case of the death, resignation or disability of the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall exercise the Executive powers of the Government until the removal of the disability, or the election and qualification of a Governor. The General Assembly shall have power to provide by law for filling unexpired terms by a special election.

Without a doubt, it is upon the last sentence of this quotation from the Constitution that this bill is founded.

The bill is entitled "an act to provide for a special election for Governor, to fill the unexpired term of Rufus B. Bullock, late Governor, and for other purposes." It provides that an election shall be held on a fixed day, to-wit: the third Tuesday in December, eighteen hundred and seventy-one, for that purpose.

In my judgment, the clause of the Constitution referred to does not authorize or justify such a law. The language is: "The General Assembly shall have power to provide by law for filling unexpired terms by a special election."

It was contemplated that the General Assembly should provide by a general law, not for filling a particular unexpired term, but for filling unexpired terms generally. No man can read this language of the Constitution, without feeling that it is a very strained construction, to say the least of it, to hold that it authorizes a special law for a special case. The language is unsuited to such an idea. The word terms indicates clearly that a general law is meant passed in view of the general public good and looking to future vacancies, and not to one that has already occurred.
The action now taken can only be called a law by courtesy. It is rather an order than a law, as is indicated by the constant use of that term when speaking of it in common conversation. It does not provide for future events, but for one past event.

Upon the resignation of Governor Bullock, I was informed thereof by the Secretary of State, and on the thirtieth day of October, of this year, in pursuance of section one hundred and twenty-seven of the Code of Georgia, I appeared at the Capitol and took the oath of office, and the same was entered upon the minutes of the Executive office, as required by the section of the Code just cited. That oath was in these words, as prescribed by the Constitution: "I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of Governor of the State of Georgia, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution thereof, and of the United States of America."

At the time I took said oath, there was no law in this State for filling unexpired Gubernatorial terms by a special election. The Constitution was the only law.
That conferred the office upon the President of the Senate, until the regular election for a Governor in the mode and at the time therein provided.

Is it competent for the General Assembly, under the clause authorizing it to provide by law for filling unexpired terms, to order an election by a special act, to fill a term already filled according to the Constitution?

Section twenty-six of article one of the Constitution provides that "Laws shall have a general operation, and no general law affecting private rights shall be varied in any particular case by special legislation, except with the free consent, in writing, of all persons to be affected thereby."

At the time Governor Bullock resigned, and the oath to "execute the office of Governor of the State of Georgia" was administered to me, it was the general law that the President of the Senate should exercise the duties of Governor until the regular election, and it is not competent for the General Assembly, by a special law, to vary this general law so as to affect a case occurring before the enactment. Nor is there any significance in this argument in the use of the words "special election," in the clause referred to. The Constitution in article two, section eleven, provides that the election of Governor, members of Congress and of the General Assembly shall be held at the same time, to-wit: on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November. The election of a Governor is also provided in article four, section one, paragraph two of the Constitution, to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November, quadrennially at the places for holding general elections. Any election to fill an unexpired term must necessarily, though provided for by a general law for all such cases, be a "special election," since it is held at a different time from the "general election," to-wit: same time regulated by the law for filling unexpired terms.

Had the intent been to authorize the General Assembly to provide for filling a particular unexpired term, after it had occurred, it seems to me the language used would have been very different. The Constitution would have said, "The General Assembly shall have power by special law to provide for filling an unexpired term by a special election."

A power to provide by law for filling unexpired terms by a special election, necessarily involves a general survey of such cases, and especially does it involve the free exercise of judgment by the Legislature.
and by the Governor. This free judgment cannot be had in a special law for a special case, when the passage of it involves the official existence of the Executive. He can give no free judgment in the matter since he is necessarily interested in the event.

No proper provision can be made by law for such a case after the occasion has arisen, because one of the elements of every law—the free judgment of the Executive upon its propriety—cannot be obtained; and because its passage involves the violation of that clause of the Bill of Rights, which prohibits the varying of a general law by special enactment, when private rights are thereby to be affected.

Another objection to the constitutionality of this bill is drawn from the provisions of article four, section one, paragraph two of the Constitution. This paragraph is in these words:

"After the first election, the Governor shall be elected quadrennially by the persons qualified to vote for members of the General Assembly, on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November, until such time be altered by law, which election shall be held at the places of holding general elections in the several counties of this State, in the same manner as is prescribed for the election of Members of the General Assembly. The returns for every election of Governor, after the first, shall be sealed up by the managers, separately from other returns, and directed to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives, and transmitted to his Excellency the Governor, or the person exercising the duties of Governor for the time being, who shall, without opening the said returns, cause the same to be laid before the Senate on the day after the two Houses shall have been organized; and they shall be transmitted by the Senate to the House of Representatives. The members of each branch of the General Assembly shall convene in the Representative Hall, and the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall open and publish the returns in the presence of the General Assembly; and the person having the majority of the whole number of votes given shall be declared duly elected Governor of this State; but if no person have such majority, then from the two persons having the highest number of votes, who shall be in life, and shall not decline an election at the time appointed for the Legislature to elect, the General Assembly shall immediately elect a Governor viva voce; and in all cases of election of a Governor by the General Assembly, a majority of the votes of the members present shall be necessary for a choice. Contested elections shall be determined by both Houses of the General Assembly in such manner as shall be prescribed by law."

I am aware of the claim that these provisions do not apply to special elections to fill unexpired terms; since it is contended the power to provide by law for filling such terms includes the mode by which the result of those elections shall be ascertained and disclosed. But nothing is more clear to my mind than that all parts of the Constitution are to be construed together—that no part thereof is to be ignored. It will hardly be contended that this power to provide by law for filling unexpired terms is to be construed as though it stood alone. May the General Assembly, in the exercise of this power, say who shall vote at the election? Who should be eligible to the office? Who shall open the returns, declare the result, and decide the controversy if there be no majority, or if the election be contested?

It seems to me that the clause conferring the power to provide by law for filling unexpired terms by special election is to be read and understood with this qualification, that the General Assembly in the exercise of the power is to be restrained and contracted by any other part of the Constitution applicable to the matter. As the Constitution fixes the qualifications of voters, the eligibility of candidates and the mode of transmitting and opening the returns and declaring the result, as it provides that the person elected shall have a majority of all the votes cast, and what shall happen if no one receives that majority, and also provides what body shall decide the controversy if there be a contested election, as all these things are provided for in detail in the Constitution, and are by the express words used declared to apply to every election for Governor, it is a very unfair construction to say that they apply only to the regular quadrennial election and not to the special elections to be provided for by law for filling unexpired terms.

The true rule of construction would be, as I think, that every provision in this paragraph, not positively inconsistent with the clause authorizing the General Assembly to provide by law for filling unexpired terms, is intended to apply to the case of special elections. There is the same necessity for all these provisions in one case as in the other, and I can see no reason for them in the case of a general election that does not apply equally to special elections.

In this way only can all parts of the Constitution be made to stand.

The paragraph I have quoted, requires the returns of every election to be transmitted to the Senate, on the next day after the organization of the two Houses. The two Houses are organized twice in every four years—once with the incoming regularly elected Governor, and once two years thereafter. A special election may be held and the returns transmitted to the Senate, as provided by the Constitution, on the next day after the two Houses shall have been organized, only if the vacancy shall happen during the first two years of the quadrennial term. Here is a solemn provision of the Constitution. What right has any one to say that it is to be ignored, especially in a case in which it can be obeyed to the letter, and the power to provide by law for filling unexpired terms still exists.

True the power will be much restricted, as it will be confined only to such unexpired terms as happen within the first two years of the quadrennial term. But if the Constitution can be obeyed in no other way, the conclusion is irresistible that such was the intention of the framers of that instrument.

A brief sketch of the history of this clause for filling unexpired terms will indicate that this was the probable meaning of those who introduced it.

The Gubernatorial term had long been but two years. The mode of making the returns, declaring the result, etc., was a part of the old Constitution, and was in harmony with the term of office prescribed. It harmonized with the election and meeting and organization of the General Assembly. Under previous Constitutions there was no power to provide by law for filling unexpired terms by a special election. The term being but two years, it was not thought necessary to have an election in case of a vacancy.

The Constitution of 1868 extended the term to four years, and this clause was added, no change being made in the mode of transmitting and opening the returns, for the simple reason that it was not intended there should be a special election unless the vacancy occurred within the first two years of the quadrennial term, so that the returns could be transmitted to the Senate on the next day after the organization of the two Houses, elected at the end of two years from the commencement of the quadrennial term.

There was, too, an obvious propriety in having this limitation of the power granted to stand. For whilst there was great reason for having a special election by the people, if the vacancy occurred during the first two years, there was but little reason for it if the vacancy occurred during the last two. Besides, in one case the vacancy could be filled, the returns opened, the result declared, and the Governor elect inaugurated at the meeting of the General Assembly at the regular term, whilst in the other case a special session of the Legislature, with all its attendant expenses, would be necessary.

This brings me to an objection to the bill based upon the great expense necessary for its execution. The regular election for a Governor occurs under the Constitution on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November next, less than a year from the time fixed by this bill for the election.

Should the election contemplated by this bill take place, the returns can hardly be made before the first day of January, 1872, which leaves only about ten months for the Governor to be elected to serve.

It does not become me to say that the duties of the office can be as well performed by the present incumbent, but it cannot escape the reflection of any man, that the expense of the election, and more especially the expense of a special session of the Legislature to receive the returns, declare the result and inaugurate the new Governor, will be a large item and ought only to be incurred for some very necessary and pressing exigency.

Should the present session be protracted till that time, it cannot be done at a less expense than one hundred thousand dollars, and should it adjourn to meet again, say by the second Monday in January, the expenses of mileage and pay of members and officers for the extra session cannot be less than one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, if the extra session continue only for a few days, which is not at all probable.

To incur so great an expense in the present embarrassed condition of the finances of the State, for the single purpose of changing, for a few months, the incumbent of the Executive chair, might, it is true, under some circumstances, be a public necessity, but I may be pardoned for saying that, in my judgment, such a necessity does not now exist.

In looking more closely into the bill under consideration, I perceive that it is based entirely upon the idea I have endeavored to combat. It takes for granted that the detailed provisions of the Constitution for making, transmitting, opening and counting the returns, etc., do not apply to special elections, and the bill, therefore, purports to provide for said details by enacting that such proceedings shall be had as is provided in article four, section one, paragraph three of the Constitution in case of a regular election for Governor.

I assume that this provision would not have been in the bill, unless the General Assembly was fully satisfied that these provisions of the Constitution did not apply to the case of a special election, and that, without a special adoption or re-enactment of them for a special election, there would be no law at all to provide for the case. I present for your consideration another objection to the bill presented for my signature.

By some strange mistake, only noticed by myself since the body of this message was written, and therefore to late to call attention to it in time for its remedy, it will be seen that the reference in the bill is to article four, section one, paragraph three of the Constitution. That paragraph provides not for making, transmitting and opening the returns and declaring the result, but fixes who shall be ineligible to the office. If this bill were to be signed by me, the anomalous case would present itself of a law to elect a Governor with no provision for a tribunal to open the returns, declare the result, and announce the same.

Should article four, section one, paragraph two of the Constitution apply to the case, the law would be that the returns are to be transmitted to the Senate on the day after the two Houses shall have been organized. This it is impossible to do, as the two Houses cannot be organized until after the Tuesday after the first Monday in November 1872, at which time the regular quadrennial election for Governor takes place.

For these reasons I refuse to sanction the bill and respectfully return it.

Benjamin Conley, Governor

Mr. McMillan moved to pass the bill referred to in the foregoing message, by a constitutional majority of two-thirds, notwithstanding the veto of his Excellency the Governor.

Mr. Pierce called the previous question, and the call was not sustained.

After some discussion, Mr. Snead called the previous question, and the call was sustained.

The bill was put upon its passage, and a two-thirds vote being required, the Clerk proceeded to call the roll for taking the yeas and nays.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA,
Friday, November 24, 1871.

The House met pursuant to adjournment, was called to order by the Speaker, and opened with prayer by the Chaplain.

The Journal of yesterday was read and approved.

Mr. McMillan moved to reconsider so much of the Journal of yesterday as relates to the reference of a bill to incorporate an Agricultural Land Grant Board to the Committee on Education.

The motion prevailed, and the bill was taken up and ordered to be engrossed.

On motion of Mr. Jackson, the rules were suspended, and a resolution requesting Messrs. C. L. Redwine, C. C. Hammock, and E. E. Rawson, having in charge the books and papers of the Western & Atlantic Railroad, to report to this House, was taken up and agreed to.

Mr. Simmons of Gwinnett moved that the rules be suspended for the purpose of reading the first time the Senate bill to alter and amend sections 1035 and 1038 of the Revised Code, and for other purposes.

The motion prevailed, and the bill was read the first time.

The following message was received from the Senate, through Mr. Hill, the Secretary thereof:

Mr Speaker:

The Senate has agreed to the following resolution, in which they ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit:

A resolution in relation to the adjournment of this General Assembly, and I am directed to transmit the same forthwith to the House of Representatives.

The House took up the unfinished business of yesterday, the same being the substitute reported by the Committee on Finance for the various bills to regulate the pay of the officers and members of this General Assembly.

Mr. Goldsmith called the previous question on the motion of Mr. McMillan, which was to strike out "ten" and insert "seven" dollars per day as the compensation of the presiding officers, and to strike out "seven" and insert "six" as the compensation of each member, and to strike out "five" and insert "three" dollars for every twenty miles traveled.

Mr. Bush made the point of order that the amendment offered by Mr. Simmons of Gwinnett, fixing the compensation of the presiding officers at nine dollars per pay, was first in order, it being the largest sum mentioned.

The Speaker ruled the point not well taken.

Mr. Stovall moved to lay the whole matter on the table, which motion did not prevail.

Mr. Bacon renewed the point of order made by Mr. Bush.

The Speaker ruled the point not well taken, because the rule providing that the largest sum mentioned should be first put to the House must be construed so as to give force to all parts of the same, and that the largest sum mentioned could not be put first, unless incorporated in the last motion to amend, which, under the rule, must be put first; also, that the rule relating to the putting of the largest sum named first referred to the filling of blanks.

The question being upon the motion of Mr. McMillilan, as to striking out “ten” and inserting “seven,” Mr. W D. Anderson called for a division of the question.

The question was divided, and the motion to strike out lost.

The question being upon the motion to strike out “seven” and insert “six,” Mr. Jackson called for the yeas and nays, and the call was sustained.

Mr. Cumming asked for a division of the question. Mr. McMillan made the point of order that the previous question having been ordered, and the call for the yeas and nays sustained, it was too late to divide the question.

The Speaker ruled that a division of the question was always in order.

So the vote was taken upon the motion to strike out “seven.”

Those voting in the affirmative are Messrs.—

Allred, Glover, Murphy of Harris,
Anderson, Wm. D. Goldsmith, Netherland,
Anderson, Wm. P. Goodman, Palmer,
Baker of Pike, Gray, Paulk, Ballanger, Hancock, Paxton,

Emerson, Knowles, West,
Fain, Martin, Wofford of Banks,
Farmer, McConnell, Wofford of Bartow,
Field, McMillan, Wood,
Floyd, Meadows, Woodward,
Flynt, Morris, Wynn.
Those voting in the negative are Messrs.—

Atkinson, Bacon, Barksdale, Battle, Berrien, Blue, Brewton of Tatnall, Brown, Bush, Butts, Campbell, Cato, Clower, Colby, Cox, Craig, Cumming, Davis of Newton, Edwards, Etheridge, Griffin of Houston, Guyton, Hall of Meriwether, Hall of Upson, Hoge, Jenkins, Jones of Macon, Kennedy, Lamkin, Lang, Lewis, Mann, Mansfield, Mattox, McNeal, McWhorter, Moreland, Morris, Nutting, Oliver, O'Neal, Peeples, Phillips, Pierce, Richardson, Rutherford, Simmons of Houston, Smith of Coweta, Snead, Stovall, Summers, Watters, Whatley, Williams, Wilson.

Yea, 80. Nay, 54.

So the motion to strike out prevailed.

Mr. Bacon moved to insert “three” in lieu of “six.”

The Speaker ruled that the previous question having been ordered, the motion was out of order.

The motion to insert “six” was then put, and prevailed.

The motion to strike out “five” and insert “three” dollars for every twenty miles traveled, also prevailed.

The question then recurred upon agreeing to the report of the committee.

Mr. Phillips, chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, submitted the following report:

Mr. Speaker:

The committee, to whom was referred the memorial of John D. Sims and Andrew J. Smith, contesting the right of Harrison J. Sargent and Samuel Smith to seats in the House of Representatives as members from Coweta county, report that we have examined the certified returns of the managers of the election, and their consolidated report shows that Harrison J. Sargent received 1,513 votes; Samuel Smith, 1,446 votes; John D. Sims received 1,194 votes, and Andrew
J. Smith received 1,174 votes; and your committee report further, that, upon an examination of the ballots, the fact was ascertained that 274 votes were cast for Sargent and Samuel Smith by persons who had not paid the poll tax required of them for the year 1869, and that Sims and Andrew J. Smith received twelve votes cast by persons who likewise had not paid such tax. When these alleged illegal votes are deducted, it leaves the legal votes of the several candidates as follows: for H. J. Sargent, 1,239 votes; for Samuel Smith, 1,172 votes; for John D. Sims, 1,182 votes, and for Andrew J. Smith, 1,162 votes, which state of the polls elects Sargent and Sims. If Sargent should be unseated because of the ineligibility alleged against him, it would leave Sims and Samuel Smith the Representatives from Coweta county. Your committee are of the opinion that the votes cast by persons who had not paid their poll tax for the year 1869 were illegal, and in support of that position, we submit, for the consideration of the House, the following points:

The act of March 18, 1869, to levy and collect a tax for the support of the government for the year 1869, and for other purposes, in the ninth item of its first section, declares that each and every male inhabitant of this State, on the first day of April, between the ages of twenty-one and sixty, shall pay a tax of one dollar for educational purposes. (See Laws of Georgia, 1869, p. 160.)

By resolution of the General Assembly, approved May 4, 1870, and declared to be in force by General Terry, the validity of the act of 1869 was recognized, and it was continued in full force until otherwise ordered by the General Assembly in 1870. The act of July 28, 1870, to set apart and secure the School Fund, makes it the duty of the Comptroller General to ascertain the exact amount due the Educational Fund up to the first of July, 1870.

Thus it will be seen that the poll tax was assessed by law, and required by law to be paid, and the parties had an opportunity of paying it, and that the year 1869 was the year preceding the election at which they voted. Your committee also are of the opinion that these votes were cast in direct violation of the second section of the second article of the Constitution of this State, which places the citizen's right to vote upon the fact that he had paid all taxes which may have been required of him, and which he has had an opportunity of paying.

Your committee are also of the opinion that the act, approved October 25, 1870, is judicial and not legislative, and that it is unauthorized by the Constitution. It does not repeal any act or resolution whatever, nor does it propose to repeal anything. It simply states what are three provisions of the Constitution, and recites what the General Assembly did not do at its first session, and then decides and adjudges that all poll tax assessed for the years 1868, 1869 and 1870 is illegal and not warranted by the Constitution of the State. Your committee, with these points and statement of facts before them, which have not been submitted without due and impartial consideration, recommend, if the House decides that Harrison J. Sargent is ineligible to office, that John D. Sims be seated, and that Samuel Smith be permitted to retain his seat; but, on the other hand, if the House decides that Harrison J. Sargent is eligible, we then recommend that John D. Sims, who received the next highest number of legal votes, be seated in the place of Samuel Smith.

R. W PHILLIPS, Chairman.

Mr. Phillips, chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, also submitted the following report:

Mr Speaker:

The memorial of James Houston, of the county of Glynn, being referred to your committee, contesting a seat with James Blue, the present incumbent, has been under consideration, and we respectfully submit that, after carefully investigating the matter, your commit­tee beg to report that the consolidated returns of the managers show that Mr. Blue received 671 votes and Mr. Houston 614, which makes the majority of Mr. Blue 57. Upon further investigation, the fact was as­certained that 15 votes were cast for Mr. Blue by persons who did not reside in the county, and 9 votes were cast for him by minors, making 24; and that there were cast during the election 221 votes, also for him, by persons who had not paid their taxes during the year 1869, making in the aggregate 245 illegal votes cast for Mr. Blue, which reduces his vote to 426. It was further ascertained that Mr. Houston received 3 votes cast by minors and 23 votes cast by persons who had not paid their taxes for the year 1869, making 26 illegal votes in the aggregate, which reduces the num­ber of votes cast for Mr. Houston to 588, and which, on balance, gives him a majority of 162 legal votes over his opponent.

Your committee, therefore, having presented an opin­ion in the contested election case from Coweta county in regard to votes cast by persons who had not paid their taxes, do not think that it is necessary to do so again in this report. We therfore recommend that Mr. Houston, the contestant, who, in the opinion of your committee, has been legally elected, be seated in the place of James Blue, the present incumbent from the county of Glynn.

R. W Phillips, Chairman.

The Speaker ruled the point not well taken, on the ground that in the case mentioned, the contestant, whom the report of the committee had declared entitled to the seat, was, upon the adoption of said report, allowed to take the oath, as a matter of right; but, in the present case, the member whose seat was contested had occupied the same during the session, and his rights could not be prejudiced by a reconsideration, which looked to further investigation of the same.

Mr. Davis of Clarke made the point of order that the House having refused to adopt the report of the committee, there was nothing before the House, and, therefore, the motion to reconsider could not be entertained.

The Speaker ruled the point not well taken.

The following message was received from the Executive Department, through Mr. Atkinson, the Secretary thereof, to-wit:

Mr. Speaker:

I am directed by his Excellency the Governor, to deliver to the House of Representatives, a communication in writing, with accompanying document:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
ATLANTA, GA., December 5, 1871.

To the House of Representatives:

I herewith return without my approval, an act to repeal an act entitled an act to organize the District Court, and define its jurisdiction, and for other purposes, approved October 28, 1870.

Justice demands that there should be in the several counties of the State, a court in which persons charged with minor offenses may be speedily tried. This court should be one which can be maintained at the least cost to the people, and at the same time be above all corrupting influences. Such a court is the one now sought to be abolished.

It is universally conceded that if the District Court be abolished, another court to answer the ends for which the District Court was organized, must be established. There must be a court in which persons charged with misdemeanors can have an impartial and speedy trial, for if the trial of this class of offenders be left to the Superior Courts, a person so charged may be kept in jail six months before he can have a trial or an opportunity to prove his innocence. Thus a person may suffer the full imprisonment imposed for the commission of a misdemeanor and be acquitted of the charge against him when brought to trial therefor.

The District Court, as now organized, is more economical than any other which can be established, for being supported by the several counties composing a Senatorial District, it must necessarily impose a lighter burden upon the people than if it were maintained by a single county.

The District Judge having a fixed salary, and being in no wise dependent upon fines and forfeitures for compensation for his services, is enabled to do full and complete justice between man and man, and to give every person brought before him, accused of crime, a fair and impartial trial.

The District Court is a constitutional, and not a statutory structure, and where it has been in practical operation, it has given general satisfaction.

In view of these facts, I can see no good reason for its abolition, simply that a court more expensive to the people, less effective in its working, and surrounded by more corrupting influences, may be erected upon its ruins.

Benjamin Conley, Governor.

Mr. Scott moved to pass the bill mentioned in the foregoing message, notwithstanding the Executive veto.

A constitutional majority of two-thirds being required the vote was taken by yeas and nays.

So the bill was passed by a constitutional majority, notwithstanding the Executive veto.
The following message from the Executive Department was taken up:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
ATLANTA, GA., December 5, 1871.

To the House of Representatives:

I return herewith a bill to be entitled an act to repeal an act to declare the poll tax of this State, for the years 1868, 1869 and 1870, yet uncollected, illegal, and to prevent the collection of the same, without my approval.

My objections to the bill are two-fold: First. The title of the bill under consideration indicates that it is intended solely to repeal an act, the title of which is set out in full, while an examination of the body of the bill discloses the fact that it not only seeks to repeal the act to which the title refers, but goes still further and imposes extraordinary duties upon the Comptroller General and the several Tax Collectors of this State. In this the bill is clearly obnoxious to article three, section four, paragraph five, clause 10 of the Constitution of this State, which is in these words: "Nor shall any law or ordinance pass which refers to more than one subject-matter, or contains matter different from what is expressed in the title thereof."

Second. This bill, while it purports only to repeal an act to which it refers, in reality exacts from the people of this State a poll tax for the year 1870, which has not heretofore been legally assessed.

No law levying a poll tax for the year 1870 has ever been enacted, and no poll tax for that year has ever been legally required to be paid. There being no tax law passed for the year 1870, the law for the year 1869, after it had expired by its own limitation and become a dead letter upon the statute book, was revived by a joint resolution, approved May 4, 1870, which, so far as it relates to this matter, is as follows:

"Resolved, That for the same reasons, the tax act of 1869 be, and it is hereby continued in full force and effect until otherwise ordered by the General Assembly.'"

By the passage of the act now sought to be repealed, it was "otherwise ordered by the General Assembly," so far as it related to the poll tax of 1870, and that tax declared to be illegal, and the further collection thereof prevented. To reverse this action of the General Assembly, and at this late day, order the collection of a poll tax for 1870, on the eve, as it were, of an election, would, in my judgment, work a great hardship to many of our citizens, and deprive them of the right of suffrage in an unconstitutional and extraordinary manner.

Benjamin Conley, Governor.

Mr. Jackson moved to pass the bill mentioned in the foregoing message, notwithstanding the Executive veto.

Mr. Murphy of Harris called the previous question, and the call was sustained.

A constitutional majority of two-thirds being required, the vote was taken by yeas and nays.

Those voting in the affirmative are Messrs.—

The following message was received from the Executive Department through Mr. Atkinson, the Secretary thereof, to-wit:

Mr. Speaker:

I am directed by his Excellency the Governor to deliver to the House of Representatives a communication in writing, with accompanying document:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
ATLANTA, GA., December 7, 1871.

To the House of Representatives:

I herewith return, without my approval, an act to alter and amend section 178 of Irwin's Revised Code.

By reference to the second section of this act, it will be seen that it is enacted that it shall be the law, not from and after the date of its passage, but from the "beginning of the present session" of the General Assembly. Thus it is made to operate as law before the bill was introduced or your honorable body organized or was competent to receive a bill.

If it is competent for the General Assembly to repeal or amend a section of the Code and give effect to the repealing or amending law thirty days before its passage, it is only by the exercise of a power not conferred or contemplated by the Constitution, and one dangerous to the rights and liberties of the people.

The fact that this act will effect injuriously by its retroactive operation only members of the General Assembly, does not give the majority of your honorable body the right to divest against their will a minority, however small, of rights vested in them by law, nor does it make the act itself less obnoxious to the great principle of law that vested rights shall not be divested without the consent of the party injured.

I decline to sanction the act not only because of its retroactive operation, but also for the reason that it is evasive of the popular will. The enormous burdens which have been imposed upon the people by reason of the exorbitant per diem and mileage fees exacted by members of the General Assembly since the year 1865, have become so onerous that the tax payers, with one accord, clamor for relief. The people demand, and they have a right to expect that a very material reduction in the per diem and mileage fees of members of the General Assembly will be made. The act which has been presented for my signature, and which reduces the per diem fee but the paltry sum of two dollars, leaving the mileage as it was before, does not comply with that demand or fulfill that expectation.

When the people speak so clearly as they have upon this matter, their voice should be heard, and their will respected.

Benjamin Conley, Governor
Mr. W D. Anderson moved to pass the bill mentioned in the foregoing message by a constitutional majority of two-thirds, notwithstanding the Executive veto.

Mr. Speaker:

The Committee on Agriculture and Manufactures, to whom was recommitted a bill to be entitled an act to levy and collect a tax from the owners of dogs in this State, and to prescribe a penalty in case of failure or neglect to give in and pay said tax, have had the same under consideration, and a majority of the Committee offer the accompanying bill as substitute for the original bill and amendments thereto, and recommend that it do pass.

John B. Davis, Chairman.

Mr. Bryan of Henry submitted the following minority report:

Mr Speaker:

The Committee on Agriculture and Manufactures have had under consideration a bill to be entitled an act to levy and collect a tax from the owners of dogs in this State, and to prescribe a penalty in case of failure or neglect to give in and pay said tax, and a majority of the gentlemen composing said committee report back said bill with a favorable recommendation.

A minority of said committee dissents, and think. that the passage of this bill would place the General Assembly before the country in the attitude of an unconstitutional Legislature. Article one, section twenty-seven of the Constitution provides that taxation on property shall be ad valorem only. It is presumed to be undeniable that dogs are property, and this bill seeks to impose a tax on the same without valuation. But it is said that a specific tax can be levied on dogs as on whisky and on other matters of taxation. The Constitution, in article six, section three, authorizes the General Assembly to assess a special tax only on shows and exhibitions, and the sale of spirituous and malt liquors. Article one, section twenty-eight, authorizes the General Assembly to grant the power of taxation to county authorities and municipal corporations, to be exercised within their several territorial limits. It may be that such power of taxation might be granted to [a] county [to] be exercised in some way to remedy the evils sought to be remedied by this bill, but it is questionable, even in such cases, whether the General Assembly can grant any power under this act and section which is withheld from itself by other portions of the Constitution. As article six, section three grants to the General Assembly the authority to assess a special tax on shows, on exhibitions, and on the sale of spirituous and malt liquors, it is plain that said authority can extend no further than is herein expressly provided. We therefore recommend that the bill do not pass.

Respectfully submitted.

(Signed) GEORGE W BRYAN.
