Mr. Mershon, of Glynn, offered the following resolution, which was read and adopted, to-wit:

Resolved, by the General Assembly of the State of Georgia, That, whereas, the South has now all the conditions for successful direct trade with foreign countries, in commerce, products, terminal facilities, railways and negotiable exchange, while foreign steamboat lines are competing for Southern trade, and,

WHEREAS, The ports of Savannah and Brunswick, in this State, have begun operations, under large appropriations from the United States government, that will secure deep water in their harbors for ships of the heaviest draught, and,

WHEREAS, The movement for direct trade, agitated by Thomas P. Stovall, I. W. Avery and C. P. Goodyear, has resulted in the establishment of partial lines at Brunswick and Savannah, and propositions to start lines at Port Royal, South Carolina, and Jacksonville, Florida.

Be it resolved, That the General Assembly of the State of Georgia heartily indorses the effort for direct trade as a movement, that, if successful, will create business and income to feed our railroads and commerce, give new markets to our farmers, settle our idle lands with thrifty farmers, and help the South to commercial independence and financial strength.

Be it further resolved, That our citizens of every calling are urged to aid this needed project, and especially are the railroads of the South and West invoked to combine with the foreign steamship companies, by an equitable division of risk and labor in building up permanent and profitable lines of steamships from foreign lands to Southern ports for successful direct Southern export and import trade.

The following message was received from the Senate through Mr. Harris, Secretary thereof:

H. W. Hill,
H. W. J. Ham,
W. M. Sears,
C. E. Battle,
E. D. Graham,

Committee on part of the House.

The following message was received from the Governor through Mr. W. H. Harrison, Secretary of the Executive Department:

Mr. Speaker:

The Governor directs me to deliver to the House of Representative sa communication in writing with accompanying documents:
GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
Atlanta, Ga., October 26, 1892.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

The General Assembly of 1891 proposed four amendments to the Constitution of the State, to wit:

An amendment to provide for annual sessions of the General Assembly
An amendment to fix the length of the sessions of the General Assembly
An amendment to provide for the first and second reading of local bills and railroad and bank charters.
An amendment to confer upon the Secretary of the State authority to issue charters for banks, insurance, railroad, canal, navigation, express, and telegraph companies.

These proposed amendments were all advertised, as the law directed, and voted upon at the last general election. A return and consolidation of the votes on these amendments, as made to me by the Secretary of State, shows that "ratification" received a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon at said general election.
DIRECT TAX.

Under the directions of the General Assembly, expressed in the Act approved October 21, 1891, the Direct Tax, levied by the Federal Government in 1861, and refunded to the several States, is now being distributed to proper claimants. The amount refunded to Georgia was $83,031.03. Of this, $53,937.80 has been paid to 1,322 claimants, and $29,093.23 remains yet to be distributed. There are now under consideration about one hundred claims, and it is probable that at the end of the time allowed for the distribution, six years from March 2, 1891, several thousand dollars will remain unclaimed in the treasury of the State.

MILITARY AFFAIRS.

Under the Act of 1891 a permanent site for a Military Encampment was established near the city of Griffin. In order to secure the location of the permanent camp, the citizens of Griffin donated to the State 105 acres of valuable land; built thereon necessary mess halls, kitchens, hospitals, bath houses, stables, etc., and fitted up the necessary water supply and electric light apparatus free of cost to the State.

The location is upon high and healthy ground and the supply of pure water is ample for all purposes. It is centrally located and of easy access from all parts of the State.

During the months of May, June and July the volunteer organizations of the State held their second annual encampment. The accommodations of the camp not being ample for all the military at one time, the forces were divided into detachments and occupied the camp in succession. During the first week, commencing May 24, 1892, the 1st and 4th Regiments of Infantry went into camp; other troops following until nearly all the organizations participated.

During the encampment four regiments of infantry, three battalions of infantry, one regiment and one battalion of cavalry and two batteries of artillery were in camp, numbering in the aggregate about 1,800 rank and file, and 240 officers.

The reports of the Adjutant and Inspector-General, the Quartermaster-General, as well as that of Capt. Lewis Smith, of the U. S. Army (detailed to inspect and report upon the encampment), all show that the results of the work by the volunteer forces of the State were creditable and satisfactory.

When we consider that only one week in the year is devoted exclusively to strict military training and discipline the results are gratifying. Yet much remains to be done to render our State forces proficient and thoroughly versed in the duties of the soldier.

The total expenses of the encampment as shown by the report of Col. A. J. West, the efficient Quartermaster-General, amounted to $19,154.80. This sum was used in paying for the transportation of the troops to and from the camp, for subsistence, medical supplies, camp equipage, freight and incidental expenses of the encampment. The vouchers for the disbursements made are of file in the Executive Departments and confirm the official report of the Quartermaster-General.

The absolute necessity for an efficient and thoroughly organized military in the State, subject to orders of the authorities in case of threatened invasion or armed resistance to the civil powers, must be conceded. It is one of the first duties of the State to organize and properly maintain her volunteer troops, and not entirely rely upon the patriotic sacrifices of those who make up these companies to hold themselves in constant readiness to go at a moment's notice to defend the life or property of citizens.

Frequent demands have been and will continue to be made for the aid of the military to support the civil authorities in preserving order and preventing mob violence. The recent experiences in other States in quelling armed mobs which openly defied the civil powers, should teach us that the peace and safety of the Commonwealth demands a well organized and efficient military force, one which may be relied upon in any emergency to protect the honor and dignity of the State.

The presence of such a power has a very wide and salutary influence and prevents outbreaks and consequent bloodshed. I feel it to be my duty to urge upon the General Assembly the great importance of properly maintaining the volunteer forces. Members of these organizations lose, necessarily, much time in attending to the duties of the service and incur considerable expense in keeping up their companies. Especially is this the case when they go into encampment or respond to the call of the Executive in the service of the State.

The present rate of appropriation to the military is less than six dollars per capita per annum. The State could well afford to double the appropriation for the security of the life and property of its citizens. The amount would be more than returned to the tax-payers in the security it would throw around their property: If not liberal, the State ought, at least, to be just to her volunteer forces.

The expenses of the encampment for 1891 exceeded the appropriation and an outstanding debt remains unpaid, amounting to $1,948.64. There is enough of the fund of 1892 undrawn to meet this debt; but, in the opinion of the Attorney-General, it cannot be used for this purpose without special authority of the Legislature. I recommend that such authority be granted, that the accounts may be settled without further delay.

WIDOWS' PENSIONS.

The law providing pensions to the widows of Confederate soldiers has been carried out as far as the amount set apart for that purpose permitted. At the time the appropriation was made by the last General Assembly, about 3,500 widows had filed claims for pensions under the law and it was then estimated that 4,000would make the necessary proofs. To meet these claims the appropriation was fixed at $400,000. On the 1st of last February payments were begun and continued until 4,000 were paid pensions for the year ending February 15, 1892. Before the end of the first pension year, however, 4,122 claims had been received and approved. Eighty-four of these claimants died before payments began, and as there was no authority under the law to pay the amount to the heirs, the money appropriated was paid to the 4,000 living applicants in the order in which their claims had been received. The entire sum appropriated was exhausted before all surviving claimants were paid and thirty-eight of them who complied with the law in time, and whose claims were approved, could not be paid for want of funds. There should be a special appropriation to meet these just claims. The law pensions Confederate widows upon certain conditions. These last fully complied with the law and filed claims which were duly approved, but the claimant failed to receive the amount, only because the estimate fixed by the Legislature was not sufficient to pay them.
After the expiration of the first pension year, applications by other widows continued to be received, but, as the appropriation had been exhausted and the period passed, their claims were returned with this information. Recently inquiries have been sent out to all the Ordinaries in the State; and from their official replies, it appears that there are over five hundred other widows who may probably be able to make the necessary proofs under the law and show themselves entitled to pensions. This can be accounted for by the fact that many applicants had much trouble and lost much time in finding witnesses who could make the proofs of the services and deaths of the soldiers, while others did not know of the law until too late to apply for the first pension. Judging from these data and the experience of the Department in pensioning soldiers, there will be a large increase in the number of applicants in 1893 for the widow's pension. To meet this demand there must be either an increase in the appropriation over and above the $400,000 appropriated for this year, or else the amount of the individual pension must be diminished, by a change in the present law which allows each widow one hundred dollars per annum. This sum was fixed at a time when the estimated number was six hundred widows. The present estimate is 4,500. If the pension is fixed at $85 per annum, the present appropriation of $400,000 would pay 4,700 claimants, or $80 would pay 5,000 applicants and avoid any increase in our present rate of taxation for this purpose.

SOLDIERS' PENSIONS.

The appropriation for disabled soldiers has been paid to beneficiaries this year, and since the amount was exhausted a number of claims have been received. As time passes and the survivors of the war grow older, their old wounds become more troublesome and their disabilities increase. This drives many who have not heretofore applied for pensions into making application for the State's bounty.

The law requiring Grand Juries to investigate pension lists has not been fruitful of much good. Some Grand Juries have without examination condemned the claims of soldiers on the pension roll and put them to much trouble to sustain their rights to the allowances, when if careful investigation had been made and the law understood, their claims would not have been questioned. Others report that they were unable to investigate the questions and passed the subject without action.

The list of pensions this year about equals that of previous years, the new claims received and allowed equaling the list of deaths and removals.

The utmost care is necessary, and has been exercised, to prevent placing upon the roll any claim not strictly provided for by the law.

The necessity of watchfulness and close scrutiny has been demonstrated by the number of questionable claims which have been presented. Some of them were found to be frauds and the names of their applicants have been stricken from the rolls when proved undeserving. In one or two instances forged documents have been presented to sustain claims. Any loose rules or want of care in passing upon claims would be taken advantage of, and the list would soon contain many not disabled as contemplated by the law, and the State would be burdened unnecessarily
INDIAN WAR PENSIONS.

A recent act of Congress provides pensions for the survivors of the Indian wars of 1832 to 1842. The pensioners must have been officers, soldiers, militia or marines who served thirty days in what are known as the Black Hawk, Creek, Cherokee or Seminole wars.

The State of Georgia furnished a number of companies and battalions in these wars, and the survivors and the widows of those who served and have since died, are constantly inquiring about the record of the enlistment and service of said soldiers. There are no reliable data in any of the departments from which information can be given. If the muster rolls of the companies are in Washington and copies can be furnished, they would be of great service to applicants. I recommend such an appropriation as may be necessary to pay for making such copies, to be kept by the State for the use of interested parties.

PUBLIC PROPERTY.

For the proper protection of the Capitol I recommend the enactment of a law clothing the janitor and watchmen with power to arrest and deliver to the city authorities persons mutilating or defacing the building or furniture therein. The walls and stairways have been wilfully and disgracefully defaced. The plastering in the stairways leading to the balcony on the dome has been cut and defaced until there is scarcely room for further mutilation. The galvanized iron work on the balcony has been cut and marked until it will soon have to be replaced to protect the dome from the weather. Such wanton work of malicious characters should be punished and the building protected from future abuse.
I beg to call the attention of the General Assembly to the condition of Mitchell street running along the Southern front of the Capitol grounds. This street has not been paved as yet, because the noise from Belgian block pavement would seriously interfere with the dispatch of business before the Supreme Court. I am informed that the city stands ready, as do the citizens living adjacent, to appropriate such sums as may represent their share of expense necessary to put the street in proper condition whenever the State will act with them in determining the character of pavement to be used.

I respectfully recommend that an appropriation be made sufficient to put this street in as good condition as other streets about the Capitol grounds.

UNIFORMITY OF THE LAWS OF THE STATE.

In accordance with a resolution of the General Assembly approved September 26, 1891, I appointed Hon. P W Meldrim of Savannah, and Hon. Walter B. Hill of Macon, as a commission "to confer with similar commissions of other states in reference to various subjects upon which uniformity in the laws of all the states is desirable." Hon. P W Meldrim alone was able to attend the meeting of the various commissions held at Saratoga, New York. He reports to me that he there met commissioners from New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Massachusetts, Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Mississippi. After working three days, they adjourned to meet in New York City, November 15th, this year. It was determined that no report should be made until it could be presented in complete form.

The commissioners, who are among the most eminent lawyers of the country, discussed legislation, dealing with matters of great interest, such as marriage and divorce, deeds, weights, etc. It was found, for instance, that the weight of a bushel of wheat varies greatly in the several states, tending to confusion in commercial transactions.

There are some small necessary expenses connected with the meeting of the several commissioners, such as hall rent, and stenographic work, which the last General Assembly seems to have overlooked. If Georgia does not provide for them, her share would have to be borne by the other states.

I suggest, therefore, in view of the great importance of the work proposed, that the General Assembly make such provision for defraying our share of these necessary expenses as may seem due and becoming.

TREASURER'S REPORT AND STATE FINANCES.

The State Treasurer has prepared his report of the State's finances for the year and from advance sheets I gather the following interesting figures:

- Receipts for year ending Sept. 30, 1892: 3,145,900.00
- Total to be accounted for: 3,876,840.04
- Paid out on warrants: 3,128,788.41
- Balance in treasury Oct. 1, 1892: $748,051.63

BONDED DEBT.

- The amount of valid bonded debt Oct. 1, 1891: $8,283,315.00
- New bonds sold to redeem maturing bonds: 207,000.00
- Matured bonds paid since Oct. 1, 1891: 305,315.00
- Present bonded debt: $8,185,000.00

Under the Act of 1891, bids were invited for the purchase of a small issue of new bonds of the State to meet certain bonds maturing in July, 1892. Several bids were received, and May 2, 1892, the sale was made to the highest and best bidder at a premium of one and one-sixteenth per cent. The small amount of the issue and the extreme stringency of the money market throughout the country prevented a better sale. However the law was fully complied with, and the bonds brought a fair premium. Under the circumstances, the transaction is another evidence of the high position the State of Georgia holds in the financial circles of the country. All efforts on the part of her enemies to cripple her credit and depreciate her bonds have failed.

Our worthy treasurer also makes report of the amounts held by him under law as deposits by insurance companies doing business in this State. The total amount of bonds deposited by insurance companies is, at this time $1,425,000. He also holds on deposit the amount of bonds required by law of the lessees of the Western and Atlanta Railroad Company, to-wit, $500,000.

The law requires the treasurer to submit an estimate of the receipts and disbursements for ensuing year. He has prepared an itemized statement which accompanies his report. If appropriations for 1893 do not materially exceed those of the present year the rate of taxation for 1893 may be reduced to four and one-half mills in place of four and eighty-five-hundredth mills levied for 1892.

The treasurer, as bank examiner, also makes report on State banks and furnishes the data collected showing the condition of these institutions.

I call attention to the report of the treasurer and to the recommendations made by him touching the laws under which his department is managed.
REPOR T OF SECRETARY OF STATE.

I call special attention to the report of the Secretary of State and urge upon the General Assembly such legislation as may be necessary to correct the evils he points out in the laws concerning public lands, surveys, phosphate beds, the oyster industry, etc.

The ratification of the amendment to the Constitution authorizing the Secretary of State to issue corporate powers and privileges to banking, insurance, railroad, canal, navigation, express, and telegraph companies will make it incumbent on the General Assembly to define most clearly and distinctly the rights and privileges, duties and liabilities of such corporations, so that there can be no doubt as to the duty of the Secretary of State under the new responsibilities imposed upon him.

I recommend such changes in the laws passed by the last legislature affecting bank and railroad charters as will comply with the provisions of the recent amendment to the Constitution of the State on this subject.

The Secretary asks for a small appropriation to be used for rebinding and preserving some important records in the department over which he presides. I recommend the appropriation necessary for this purpose.

COMPTROLLER-GENERAL'S REPORT.

The annual report of the Comptroller General for the official year ending Oct. 1, 1892, makes the following exhibit of receipts and disbursements:

Cash balance in Treasury, October 1, 1891 .......... $730,039.06
Receipts from all sources to September 30, 1892 ...... $3,145,900.08

Total receipts .......... $3,875,939.04
THURSDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1892.

Amount paid on Governor's warrants in payments public debt, expenses of department, special appropriation, school fund, public institutions, etc., to September 30, 1892................................. $3,099,534.71
Speaker and President of Senate warrants on account legislative pay roll and mileage ............. 119,283.7

Total disbursements .............. $3,128,818.41
Cash balance October 1, 1892................................. $748,051.63

The property returns, as shown by the consolidation of the tax digests, indicate a satisfactory increase in value throughout the State over the returns for the previous year.

The total amount of property returned for taxation by individuals in 1891 was................................. $402,580,468
The returns for this year show an aggregate of .............. 421,149,509

A net increase of................................. $18,568,041

The returns by railroad companies, including street railways for 1892, aggregate................ $42,604,025
For the year ending October 1, 1891 ......................... 42,383,287

Net increase of railroad property................................. $220,738

Of the above amount returned by individuals the colored tax-payers now return property valued at................................. $14,839,575
Their returns for 1891 aggregated................................. 14,196,735

Showing increase for present year................................. $672,840

When considered in connection with the almost universal complaint of short crops and low prices of our staple products, and a corresponding dullness in business circles, this increase in property values is very gratifying and encouraging.

The Comptroller-General also furnishes in his report many tables of valuable statistics from which the General Assembly may gather all needed information about the tax laws and the resources of the State.
DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

At the outset of his report the Commissioner of Agriculture very properly calls your attention to his economical administration of his office in the reduction of salaries.

I feel quite sure the efficiency of the department has not been injured by these changes. I trust by full and free conference with the Commissioner, the General Assembly will be enabled to further reduce the expenses of this department without detriment to its usefulness.

I desire to emphasize what the Commissioner has to say in recommending suitable legislation to prevent and suppress the loathsome disease known as Glanders.

In reference to the Experiment Station I have no official information to communicate to the General Assembly, except such as is given you in the report of the Commissioner of Agriculture.

I would respectfully suggest, however, the possibility of such co-operation and union between the department and the station as will render both, possibly, more efficient and reduce the expenses of maintenance. This I think is especially true in the matter of salaries.

The department has in its employ a chemist and two assistant chemists, at an expense to the State of $5,000 in salaries. The station has in its employ a chemist and an assistant chemist, at a cost of $2,400 for salaries. As the Commissioner of Agriculture is properly ex officio the head of the Experiment Station, the department and the station can be easily further united without injury to the usefulness of either and at a reduction of the expenses of both.

The General Assembly is respectfully urged to give to the department and to the station such consideration and help as will improve our practical agriculture and thereby advance the material interests of the State.

THE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

Since the report submitted to the General Assembly in 1891, the survey of the State has gone forward as rapidly as possible, in the opinion of the chief of the department, Dr. J. W. Spencer.

The State Geologist has completed the survey of what is known as the Coosa river basin, and has submitted his report, which covers work done in Polk, Floyd, Bartow, Gordon, Murray, and Whitfield counties. The Geological Board has not published this report, partly because of the considerable expense it would involve, and partly because it deemed it best to await the completion of the work so that the whole survey might be arranged systematically and published in final shape. Recently Dr. Spencer has been engaged in completing the survey in Northwest Georgia, and in work in Southwest Georgia, where he has been making important investigations as to the supply of artesian water, and its accessibility. A large portion of the southern part of the State was treated in the first report of the survey, made last year.

Mr. Whatley, assistant geologist, has been engaged in Northeast Georgia—Rabun, Towns, Union, Fannin, Lumpkin, White, Habersham and Hall counties—and has submitted a report covering part of his work.

Mr. Anderson, the engineer, of the department, has completed his survey of the water-powers of the Chattahoochee, Flint and Ocmulgee rivers, including adjacent creeks, and has determined the volume and consequently the material value of these streams.
The survey embraces a thorough investigation of the soil, timber, ores, minerals, artesian water, water-powers, healthfulness—all the natural wealth of the State. Specimens of natural products and minerals are being collected, and a museum, in compliance with the law, is being formed. This collection will be of great educational and material advantage, as showing the resources of the State.

RAILROAD COMMISSION.

The attention of the General Assembly is called to the elaborate and comprehensive report submitted by the Railroad Commission. Under the wise administration of the law the members of the commission have deserved and received the confidence of the people of this State in the discharge of the responsible duties put upon them.

Conservative in action, yet determined upon the enforcement of law, the commission has guarded well the rights of the people against the possible aggressions by corporate powers, and at the same time protected the rights of corporations against the undue attacks and demands of the people. I confidently believe that the rights of the people and the rights of the companies put under their control, as defined by the laws of this State, are absolutely safe and secure.

Especial attention is asked to the statements and subsequent recommendation made in this report touching speculation in railroads. The case is distinctly stated in the following extract from the report of the commission. "A grave public wrong confronts the country in the use of railroads as a means of speculation to defraud and rob the people and enrich the speculators, which presents a serious phase of the railroad problem, and demands, in our judgment, legislation."
Referring to speculation in the stock of railroad corporations in the message I had the honor to submit to the last Legislature, I made the following statements:

"When the stock of railroad corporations is held by citizens of this State, or those who are immediately and personally interested in the development of the State's resources, very much might be properly left to such corporations themselves, because of independent or mutual relations. If it should be true that the railroads of the State are, in any large or controlling measure, owned and operated by persons not identified with the interests of this State, then the profits become merely speculative. Any road beginning and terminating inside the State's limits, must depend absolutely for its maintenance upon the development of resources along its line. The management, therefore, cannot afford to ignore or destroy these local interests. The moment the corporation is extended across the border it finds other resources and other business connections outside the State, and, under our interstate laws, puts itself beyond the authority of the State's control, and is in a position to make demands for freight rates that are unjust, burdensome and oppressive.

"The situation is especially to be considered, the more the roads of the State are brought under one and the same control and ownership, having the effect 'to defeat or lessen competition in their respective business or to encourage monopoly' Just this condition now obtains in Georgia. A large number of the most important roads in the State have come under one management. They have interstate connections and being owned largely for speculative purposes and not for the permanent development of the State, the interests of the State demand that the people shall be protected against unjust and oppressive rates."
Many of these conditions have been adjusted in the interest of the people. The commission now calls attention to a similar, and if possible a more dangerous evil, in that many roads are loaded with watered stock and bonded far in excess of their value, from which colossal fortunes are made by questionable methods.

The remedy for this great and growing evil, submitted by the commission, will, in my judgment, meet the demands, and I recommend its enactment into law.

REPORT OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

Very soon after I came into office the term of lease of the Western and Atlantic Railroad expired, and it became necessary for me to complete the contract between the State, as entered into by my predecessor, and the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway by turning over to them the State's property as stipulated in the agreement.

The necessary investigation of the condition of the State's property soon made known to me the importance of more satisfactory information about the State's interests. After full conference with the Attorney-General I requested him to take whatever action in his opinion might be necessary to protect and secure the State's property within the borders of this State and in Tennessee in any way connected with the Western and Atlantic Railroad.

I am pleased to say that he has made thorough investigation of the matters submitted to him, and brought to my notice many important facts fully set forth in his accompanying report, to which I call your attention.

I beg to say, upon the developments made, and my personal knowledge of the important interests involved, I fully concur in the view of the Attorney-General "that the interest of the State in the property known as the Western & Atlantic Railroad would be subserved by the permanent employment of a special attorney, charged with the preservation of the legal rights of the State to the various items of this property in two states and of great value."

It is due that I should say in the adjustment of all the matters pertaining to this valuable State property, together with the Attorney-General, that I have been impressed with the fairness and liberality of the lessees. I have found the President of the company, at all times, ready to co-operate with me in any action necessary for the proper protection and preservation of the State's property.

I respectfully ask your consideration of the further matters submitted by the Attorney-General, with the recommendation that you give them such direction, as your wisdom may suggest.

PENITENTIARY.

Col. Geo. H. Jones, the Principal Keeper of the Penitentiary, has submitted his report showing condition of the Penitentiary from October 1, 1890, to September 30, 1892.

The following table shows the number of convicts in the Penitentiary for the past two years:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>In camps October 1st, 1890</th>
<th>1,694</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Received from jails</td>
<td>1,090</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Escapes, and out at last report, since returned to the Penitentiary</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Received from Asylum, out at last report, and since returned to the Penitentiary</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

2,802
Discharged, pardoned and sentences commuted of this number: 1683
Escaped since last report, and still at large: 63
Died since October 1st, 1890: 107
Returned to court for new trials, and acquitted: 3
Sent to Asylum: 862

The classification as to color and sex of the inmates of the Penitentiary is as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Oct. 1892</th>
<th>Males</th>
<th>Males</th>
<th>Females</th>
<th>Females</th>
<th>Total</th>

</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>194</td>
<td>1,710</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>44</td>
<td>1,940</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A net increase for two years: 274

From this table it will be seen that the negro race contributes 90 per cent. and the white race ten per cent. of the convicts.

The rules for the government of convicts have been enforced and when violated, guilty parties have been held to account. The convicts are in good health, as will be seen by reference to the report of the Principal Physician. The death rate is less than two per cent. per annum. When it is considered that this includes all deaths caused by accident, or resulting from mutinies, diseases contracted by convicts prior to arrest and while in jails, it will be understood that the death rate from diseases contracted in the penitentiary is remarkably low and proves that the rules to preserve the health of the convicts are wise and conducive of fine results.

The total number of deaths during two years is 107 among 2,802 convicts in prison during that period, or fifty-three per annum, which makes the death rate nineteen in the thousand.

I feel especial pleasure in commending the management of this department. Surrounded with difficulties and attended by a great many unpleasant and some painful duties, the Principal and Assistant Keeper and Physician have met my highest expectations in the management of the interests committed to their care. The lessees have uniformly and promptly co-operated with the State's officers in whatever was deemed best for the management of the convicts. I call the attention of the General Assembly to some important changes noted in the report of the Principal Keeper.

In this connection I beg to repeat what I said to your predecessors about the proper condition of our jails as a preventive of disease among convicts and a reformatory for misdemeanor convicts and young criminals.

JAILS.

"A matter imperatively demanding the attention of the General Assembly is the condition of the county jails in this State. Violators of law are oftentimes confined six months or a year in jail, awaiting trial or sentence. In many instances, they become so hopelessly diseased that they are made invalids for life, or they are turned over to the lessees, a burden to themselves and a great care on the hands of the lessees. This is no part of the penalty affixed to the law, and the State permits a great wrong done when such treatment goes unpunished. These evils are common and they should be remedied. An additional officer, attached to the Penitentiary department, whose duty it shall be to inspect and report the condition of the jails of the State, under regulations for the care and well-being of inmates, would serve the good of these unfortunate people and save the name of the State."
A REFORMATORY.

"For misdemeanor convicts I would specially urge a reformatory by the State.

"The peculiar condition of our society, leaving some classes of our people without proper parental control and the restraint of home influence, allows many petty violations of the law, by those of tender years, that should find some wholesome restraint under reforming influences.

"The object of all punishment is two-fold: 1st, to prevent crime; 2d, to reform the criminal. I undertake to say that, in many instances, our present system does not effectually accomplish either purpose. On the contrary, it increases crime by hardening the criminal. It is far more in harmony with good government to prevent crime than to punish the criminal."

PARDONS AND COMMUTATIONS.

During the past two years I have had presented for my consideration nearly three hundred applications for clemency. This responsible duty, placed upon the executive by law, is indeed burdensome and trying. I have passed upon the greater part of these petitions and I report, in an appendix to this message, the list of cases where clemency has been granted with facts and reasons for action in each case. This report embraces all cases of clemency up to October 1, 1892.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The State Commissioner submits a very gratifying report upon the condition of public schools.

The attention of the General Assembly is respectfully asked for the several recommendations made by the Commissioner looking to the improvement of the system.

Your especial attention should be given to the prompt payment of teachers for their services. Teachers can ill afford to discount the small amount they receive for the efficient labor they give the State.

I fully concur with the Commissioner as to the efficiency of the Teachers' Institutes established by the last General Assembly. In the absence of earlier normal training the teachers who now have charge of our public schools will be greatly advanced in efficiency after being instructed, even at this late date, in improved methods.

I most earnestly urge upon the General Assembly a liberal appropriation to the Normal School recently established at the city of Athens.

The last legislature accepted the buildings and grounds generously tendered by the trustees of the State University, together with a small amount of money, the interest on the "Gilmer fund," to aid in defraying the expenses of instructors in the school, and a contribution of $500 by the citizens of Athens to supply cheap furniture for the building.

The limited means at hand did not justify a longer session than seven weeks, yet the following extract from the report of the board of instruction, is sufficient to determine the value of the institution as a strong factor for good in our public school system.

"Georgia needs something more than a summer normal college. This great State is far behind in the matter of normal training of the teachers in its public and private schools. The reputation of the State and the dignity of the profession demand that a regular college be established. It will take $15,000 to remodel and repair and furnish the present Rock College building and make it suitable for normal work. Dormitories will cost $25,000 each, and two are needed, one for boys and one for girls. A faculty of at least eight teachers should be chosen, costing at least $12,000 a year. No second rate, small pay man or woman is needed in the Georgia State Normal College. The first appropriation from the legislature should not be less than $30,000 for repairs, refurnishings, and employment of faculty for one year. The annual appropriation should be $15,000 for running expenses, and dormitories should be added as rapidly as possible."

GEORGIA NORMAL AND INDUSTRIAL COLLEGE.

The President of the Georgia Normal and Industrial College submits the following data showing the condition and possibilities of this cherished State institution. It is but one year old, but its success is already established. The college was opened Sept. 30, 1891, with eighty-six pupils, representing fifty-two counties in the State. Others were admitted during the first session until the number enrolled reached 171 pupils. The second session opened on 21st of Sept., 1892, with 262 pupils and in less than one month the number increased to 316 young ladies coming from eighty-seven counties in Georgia. Owing to this large increase in the number of pupils it will be necessary to increase the number of teachers. President Chappell thinks there should be one assistant in the Dress-making department, one in the Free-hand and Industrial Drawing department, where there are 250 pupils to be instructed and at present only one teacher. Also a special teacher for Natural Science and an assistant teacher in English and Modern Languages, and still another in Elocution and Physical Culture. To secure first-class teachers for these five chairs would require about $6,000 per annum.

It also appears that the school has incurred a debt of $4,300 in completing a system of water-works, sewerage, furniture for the Dormitory, etc., all of which it seems were absolutely necessary and could not be postponed until an appropriation was had without seriously damaging the institution.

President Chappell also urges the need of another Dormitory to accommodate the pupils who are now compelled to secure board with private families in Milledgeville. If this cannot be done such an amount as would build an annex to the present Dormitory sufficient to accommodate at least one hundred girls, is asked for.

Feeling, as I do, the importance of putting this industrial college for our girls upon the high road to prosperity, and to secure the greatest amount of good from it, I recommend that all the needs of the institution be provided for by the General Assembly.

STATE UNIVERSITY

The report of the Trustees of the University of Georgia, and the report of the Board of Visitors for the session of 1892, are herewith transmitted. I respectfully call attention to these reports and to the recommendations made therein.

During the last session of the University there were enrolled one hundred and seventy-three students. About forty applicants were refused admission because of failure to show sufficient preparation in text-books; and seventeen were dismissed on account of failure to keep abreast of the class work.

The standard of the University is high and the Faculty a strong one. The discipline and morals of the students are such as to deserve the highest commendation.

I need not do more than call the attention of the General Assembly to the wants of this grand institution. The well settled policy of the State to foster and maintain the University is known, and I stand ready to sanction any reasonable effort to keep it up to the highest standard possible and make it the equal of any educational institution in this country.

TECHNOLOGICAL SCHOOL.

The number of students at the Technological School is not quite so large as last year, probably owing to some serious inconveniences that arose from losses by fire.

The loss of the shop by fire was a lamentable disaster. The building and machinery were insured to the amount covered by the school's quota of the insurance appropriation and beyond this amount by the wise forethought of the gentlemen of the Commission. The amount realized from insurance has been sufficient to rebuild the shop and partially to equip it again.

For the successful operation of the mechanical department on the old basis, the school will now need an appropriation of $20,000 in addition to the appropriation for maintenance.

The line of education pursued by this school points especially to the material development of the State as no other institution does. The special work of the school looks to the practical application of scientific knowledge to the needs of life. The aptitude and talents of the boys of this State are equal to the aptitude and talents of boys of other sections, and the State needs their development now on the lines of the School of Technology more than at any time in our history I commend this institution to the most favorable consideration of the General Assembly, and ask for it such appropriation as the general condition of our finances will authorize.

SCHOOL FOR COLORED STUDENTS.

In accordance with the Act of the Legislature, approved November 26, 1890, a school for colored students has been established, and a commission, consisting of P W Meldrim, W R. Hammond, P J Cline, J. B. Felder and Geo. T. Murrell, was appointed. This school, under the law, is a branch of the State University. After the commissioners had established the school they became, by operation of law, a local board of trustees for the management of the institution.

Various sites were offered for the location of the school in answer to advertisements. Savannah was chosen as the most desirable site for the college. Eighty-five acres of land were acquired by purchase and donation, of which thirty-five were set aside for the campus and the remainder for the college farm.

The school opened in October, 1891, with accommodations for forty students. The attendance during the first year was forty-two. This year it has commenced with thirty-six, and it is estimated that the attendance will reach eighty before the close of the year.

The purpose of the school is to furnish means for the industrial education of the negro youths of the State. To carry out this purpose, a faculty has been selected and an equipment provided for instruction in the mechanic arts, in the natural sciences, in farm work, in mathematics, and in English grammar and literature. The faculty is composed entirely of colored men, and has proved itself very efficient and able. It is as follows:

R. R. Wright, President, instructor in English.
D. C. Suggs, Instructor in Natural Sciences.
F. E. Cobb, Instructor in Mathematics.
Albert A. Ashton, Instructor in Mechanic Arts.
Robert H. Thomas, Foreman of Farm.
James M. Simms, Proctor.
T. J. Davis, M. D., College Physician.
L. B. Maxwell, Occasional Instructor.

The Chairman of the Local Board of Trustees, Hon. P. W. Meldrim, in a brief report to this office, states that the receipts of the institution for the past year from all sources, subscriptions from the city of Savannah and donations by the State and the United States, amounted to $31,624.82; of which $28,822.21 has been expended in putting buildings in good order for school purposes, in the purchase of land, and in the ordinary expenses of conducting such an institution. There is on hand a balance of $2,802.61.

Mr. Meldrim and his associates on the Board of Trustees deserve the highest praise for the unselfish, public-spirited and untiring efforts they have made in the establishment and proper maintenance of this school.

SUPREME COURT.

The State is rapidly growing in all its interests, and the additional work put upon the different departments has increased accordingly.

I respectfully recommend a thorough investigation of all the Departments of State, with a view to properly adjusting the working force to the demands made by the State.
I call special attention to the increased labor put upon the judges of the Supreme Court of this State. This court was organized about forty-five years ago with the present number of judges. At the beginning, the cases decided in a year did not reach one hundred; last year 635 cases were disposed of. Then, one volume sufficed for the decisions of a year; now three large volumes are issued yearly. Since then the population has doubled; the citizenship has grown in far greater proportion. Nearly half of the people were then the property of the other half with no right to litigate; the same classes are now owners of property and earners of wages, and consume much of the time of the courts. The growth of commerce, manufactures, railroads, corporations and divers other interests has given rise not only to a great increase of cases, but to new phases of law and innumerable questions of a novel and difficult character. More railroad cases are now decided at one term than were heard in several years during the earlier days of the court. The cases from one county alone during a term are sometimes more than all the cases of a term in years past.

Under this statement of facts it is plain to see that it is practically impossible for the present number of judges to give sufficient time to the proper consideration of all the cases that come before them.

INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB.

The accompanying report of the Trustees of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb shows an itemized statement of expenses amounting to $17,481.37, and an estimate of the needs of the institution amounting to $19,900.

In the maintenance of this institution the State is but following its policy in providing education and helps to usefulness to its more fortunate citizens, who do not require this special instruction to fit them to become good citizens. Whatever may be neces-essary to fit this institution for the highest usefulness I respectfully urge the General Assembly to furnish.

ACADEMY FOR THE BLIND.

Abstracts from the report of the Board of Trustees of the Academy for the Blind show that this important and well managed public institution is gradually extending its work of educating the blind children of the State. The number of pupils for the present year aggregates one hundred; eighty-one white and nineteen colored. The expenditures for the maintenance of the school have amounted to $17,611.05
The Dormitory, provided by the special approvi-ation of $15,000 in 1889, was completed this year and cost $20,580.97 The balance above the amount appropriated, was paid by the trustees from accumulated balances of regular appropriations to the institution. The increased number of pupils to be taught and maintained render an increase in the annual appropriation necessary. The trustees apply for $20,000 per annum in lieu of the $16,000 heretofore allowed. They need more appliances, more furniture and the old buildings need some repairs.

I respectfully refer these demands to the General Assembly for investigation and action, with every confidence that the needs of the institution will be fully provided for by you.
LUNATIC ASYLUM.

The officers of the State Lunatic Asylum have submitted reports, showing the present condition of the Asylum, the receipts and disbursements for the past twelve months, and the needs of the institution. The \textit{per capita} cost \textit{per diem} for the past year was $32\frac{1}{3}$ cents, which shows that the institution has been managed economically. The Superintendent does not ask for any increase in the appropriation for the coming year, but urges the necessity of a special allowance for repairs of buildings and the enlargement of the laundry to meet the increased demands of the institution. He estimates that $6,500.00 will be needed for such last mentioned purposes.

On the 1st of October, 1892, there were in the Asylum 1,570 inmates. The number receiving care and treatment during the year was 2,025.

The recommendations contained in the report of the Asylum officers are respectfully referred to the General Assembly for their consideration.

A STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

I beg to call the attention of the General Assembly to the necessity for a State Board of Health.

In 1875 a law was passed establishing such a board, and $1,500 was appropriated for its maintenance. This act was amended in 1876, and a small appropriation granted for the purpose of publishing the transactions of the board. In 1877 another small appropriation was made, the last money expended by the State in guarding the health of her people. The following year no appropriation was made, and the board has, from that time, ceased to exist for want of recognition by the State.

It will be remembered that last year there was an epidemic of smallpox on the strip of coast known as Harris' Neck, and the State, powerless to rescue or protect her own citizens, was forced to call on the general government for aid. This aid was granted, and the disease was promptly checked and eradicated. It would have been more consistent with the dignity of the State and the duty it owes its citizens if Georgia could have taken steps to protect her own people from the scourge. It would also have been more in harmony with our ideas of local self-control.

The threatened visitation of Asiatic cholera to this country reveals to us another peril against which we should provide ample means of defense. We may any year be subjected to the invasion of yellow fever from the Spanish countries to the South of us, or of Asiatic cholera through the Northern ports. We are now utterly helpless to deal with these plagues, and should either menace us, we should have to appeal again to the Federal government.

Besides these dangers from without, we have many sources of danger within our borders, and an efficient Board of Health would be a constant safeguard to the health of our people and afford a feeling of security against epidemic and disease.

I most earnestly recommend, therefore, that the General Assembly take such action as will re-establish the State Board of Health, and provide for its maintenance and efficiency.
LYNCHING.

I regret that the necessity exists for recommending the passage of more stringent laws for the protection of human life. I would not intimate, nor do I believe that the communities of Georgia are less law-abiding than those in other states. All over the country, in the North as well as the South, there is a degree of lawlessness which is a reproach to American civilization.

Within the past year, in this state, persons charged with crimes have been arrested and lodged in jail. While thus in the custody of the law, bodies of lawless men have compelled the surrender of the prisoners and summarily executed vengeance upon them. These self-constituted judges and executioners are more than murderers. They have not only taken human life without authority or excuse, but they have put before their fellow citizens an example, which, if followed to any extent, would speedily end in the dissolution of society itself. It becomes the General Assembly to consider and provide the proper remedy for this evil by legislation.

I would respectfully suggest, first, that the powers of the sheriff be more clearly defined and that his duties be emphasized by proper penalties for neglect to discharge them.

When a person is under arrest in the custody of the sheriff, it is the duty of the latter to protect him absolutely from molestation or bodily harm. For this purpose the sheriff is authorized to summon to his assistance every able-bodied man in the vicinage, if need be, to preserve the peace and protect life. Should he fail to discharge this duty and personal damage or loss of life result, let his sureties respond in damages to the prisoner, or if the prisoner be slain, to his heirs. The sheriff himself should be punished by fine and imprisonment, and suspension or dismissal from office.

Before making this heavy demand upon the sheriff, let us see to it that he is provided with a real and not merely an imaginary force. As before said, that officer now has authority to summon to his aid every able-bodied man in the county, but I have not seen the statute that imposes a definite penalty for refusing to respond to such summons. I, therefore, respectfully suggest, second, the enactment of a law, compelling by adequate penalties, the citizen to obey the sheriff. This would be the proper complement and companion of the statute first mentioned, and together they would, in my opinion, furnish all the power necessary to successfully contend with the disorderly and lawless elements of society.

If these should fail, there yet remains the military power, and so long as I hold the executive office, it shall be used on proper occasions to preserve the peace and maintain the supremacy of the law.

Should these views meet your concurrence, and should acts be framed and passed in accordance therewith, I respectfully recommend that the judges of the Superior courts be required to lay them before the grand juries at the first session of said courts after the passage of said acts, and to charge said juries when cases of outrage and violence occur in their counties, to investigate the conduct of the sheriff and citizens in relation thereto, with the view of a subsequent trial for neglect of duty, if such should be found to be the fact.

I commend this whole subject to your earnest and intelligent consideration, satisfied as I am that no more important question can engage your attention during the session.
Surely your coming together were worse than idle and the whole machinery of justice a hollow and expensive mockery, if your will, after being crystalized into solemn statutes, to be read of all men, can be contemned and trampled upon.

CONCLUSION.

For some years the proper control and management of the convicts and railroad transportation have taken quite a good deal of the time of the General Assembly.

Many problems arising from these important questions are now settled.

I have ordered and secured the absolute separation of the male from the female convicts. I have insisted upon humane treatment as to the hours and character of work required, as well as the punishment inflicted.

The sanitary condition of the camps is constantly and carefully looked after. In carrying out my instructions the officers in this department have been diligent and faithful, and the lessees have uniformly co-operated with them in their efforts.

In the management of two thousand of the State's worst citizens, we cannot hope to have the conditions perfect, but I am gratified to say that the State's prisoners are as well cared for as it is possible for them to be under the system.

When the accompanying suggestions made by the Railroad Commission are enacted into law, I believe that the main difficulties in the problem of transportation will be properly adjusted in the interest of the roads and the people.

The recent policy of the State in pensioning disabled soldiers and subsequently the widows of Confederate soldiers, together with the increased appropriation for public schools, puts heavier burdens of taxation upon the people, of which they have not specially complained because of the purposes for which the taxes were levied.

The status of the state remaining the same, I could not ask that any of these appropriations should be reduced. We must, however, consider these matters important as they are, in connection with other demands upon the state, doubtless, of equal interest to the people.

If we keep pace with the progress of civilization we cannot be content to teach the children of the state "the elements of an English education only." We must lead them into broader fields of thought and usefulness. I recommend, therefore, liberal appropriations to the University and the several industrial schools that are its branches, as the very best means to secure the material and educational advancement of the State.

Among the most important matters to come before you will be taxation. I earnestly urge a very thorough study and investigation of this whole subject. I do not think the State has yet adopted the best means for reaching the entire property of the people for purposes of taxation. Many citizens bear their full share of the burdens of government, while many others receive its benefits without a just return for its protection.

With full confidence in your wisdom and patriotism in this as in all other matters that will come before you, I feel quite sure the policy of the State will be directed in the interest of all the people.

Mr. Speaker:

To the General Assembly:

I have the honor to transmit herewith a communication from Hon. W R. Hammond, a member of the Commission on the School for Colored Students, under the patronage of the State, located at Savannah, Ga. I trust it may be the pleasure of the General Assembly to comply with the request in said communication referred to.

W J. Northen.

To the Speaker and House of Representatives:

I desire to make the following statement as regards the interview with Mr. J. J. Maddox concerning the Gober matter:

Mr. J. J. Maddox has been a client of mine for a number of years. He is a client of mine at this time. Mr. C. D. Maddox, his son, has been a friend for a number of years.

At the time I was nominated for the Legislature from Cobb county, the firm of J. J. & J. E. Maddox wrote me congratulating me on my election. I had not met them since coming to Atlanta.

On going from Kimball House to the Capitol, I passed the store of J. J. & J. E. Maddox, on Alabama street, in company with my friend, S. R. Cochrane, of Cobb county, and Mr. Keiffer, of Effingham county. As we were passing said store, Mr. J. J. Maddox was standing in the store door, and stopped me and shook hands.

I then introduced my friends, after which he invited us into the store, where we engaged in general conversation for a few moments. Very soon Mr. Maddox and myself walked away from the other gentlemen and the conversation turned on the Gober investigation.

I told Mr. Maddox I was sorry the matter had been brought up and his son was involved in it.
I said since Gober's re-election I can't see much in it for your son, and if I was him I would drop out. You know, Mr. Maddox, that your son made a number of enemies while in Canton, and some of these men might do something to embarrass your son. Mr. Maddox said, "We know that you are a fair man, and Mr. Bacon is a fair man, and we believe that others of the committee are fair men, and that we will get a fair trial."

I told him he certainly would. He then asked me what excuse Judge Gober gave for what he did. I told him I had heard that Judge Gober said the motion for a new trial was written so closely that it left no room for corrections or explanations, and that he had his stenographer to take two or three pages out and rewrite them.

I did not go there as Chairman of the Investigating Committee.

I thought I was talking to a friend and said what I did as a friend. Judge Gober knew nothing of my connection with Mr. Maddox. On leaving the store, Mr. Maddox accompanied me to the door, when our conversation turned on private business between us.

I have acted in good faith and had nothing in view but to serve my State to the utmost of my ability, "giving justice to whom justice is due."

I deem it prudent, under all the conditions surrounding the Gober matter, that I should be relieved from further service on the committee of investigation. I therefore ask to be relieved from said committee.

J. E. Moseley.

On motion of Mr. Hall, of Spalding, the request of Mr. Moseley was granted, and he was relieved from serving on said committee.

Leave of absence was granted to the following members: Messrs. Cochran of Mitchell, Kimsey, Nunnally, Jones of Dougherty, Dempsey and Lane.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
ATLANTA, GA., November 15, 1892.

To the General Assembly:

I have the honor to transmit herewith a communication from Hon. Philip Cook, Secretary of State, which explains itself. The particular legislation, rendered necessary by the recent adoption of the constitutional amendment in regard to granting charters, will occur to the wisdom of the General Assembly.

W J. Northen.

STATE OF GEORGIA,
SECRETARY OF STATE.
ATLANTA, GA., November 14, 1892.

To His Excellency, W. J. Northen, Governor:

DEAR SIR: I deem it necessary to call your attention to the judicial sale of the following railroads in this State, since the passage of the Act of October 21, 1891:

"Macon City and Suburban Street Railroad Company," sold an name changed to "The Macon Consolidated Street Railroad Company," and filed in this office May 17, 1892.

"Central City Street Railroad," sold and name changed to "Macon Electric Street Railroad Company," and filed in this office May 17, 1892.

"Coast Line Railroad Company," sold and name changed to "The Savannah, Thunderbolt and Isle of Hope Railway of Savannah, Georgia," and filed in this office July 15, 1892.

"Empire and Dublin Railroad," sold and name changed to "Oconee and Western Railroad Company," and filed in this office October 10, 1892.

The purchasers of these several roads have fully complied with the provisions of the law contained in Section 1689 (V) and 1689 (W) of the Code of 1882. The proviso to the 6th Section of the Act of 1891 declares "that such purchasers shall only operate said roads until the meeting of the next General Assembly, when they shall be incorporated as other railroads in this State." The constitutional amendment recently adopted prohibits the Legislature from granting railroad charters, and makes it the duty of this office to do so. The proviso referred to places the roads named in an awkward and uncertain position as to their rights and privileges, and my object in this communication is to request the Legislature to afford such relief as may lay within their power.

Respectfully,

PHILLIP COOK, Secretary of State.

On motion of Mr. Hodge, referred to Committee on Railroads.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
ATLANTA, GA, November 15, 1892.

To the General Assembly:

I have the honor to transmit hereby an invitation to the General Assembly to visit Chicago for the purpose of seeing the magnitude and importance of the approaching Exposition. The invitation is extended by Col. B. W Wrenn, General Passenger Agent of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad in behalf of the railroads between Atlanta and Chicago, and reads as follows:

"KNOXVILLE, TENN., November 14, 1892.

To His Excellency, Gov. Northen, Atlanta, Ga.:

Recognizing the very great importance of our State being represented at the World's Fair, and believing that if the Legislature could witness the immense and indescribable buildings representing the nation, as well as the principal States of the Union—except Georgia—they would realize the necessity, make the necessary appropriation, I would respectfully suggest that you recommend to the Legislature that they appoint a committee, consisting of fifteen to twenty-five, to visit Chicago. I am authorized by the railroads between Atlanta and Chicago, via Cincinnati, to tender the courtesies of their lines to such committee. I would be pleased to accompany them. If the committee is appointed they could leave Atlanta at 1:30 p. m., and arrive in Chicago the next morning at 6:15. They could leave Chicago at 8:30 p.m., and arrive in Atlanta at 11:45 the next night. We would be delighted to have you go, also. Please advise me if you take action in the matter."

I trust it may be the pleasure of the General Assembly to accept the invitation so generously tendered.

W. J. NortheX.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
ATLANTA, GA., November 15, 1892.

To the General Assembly:

I have had occasion within the past few months to make some investigation into the condition of convicts sentenced to punishment in county chain-gangs.

I respectfully suggest such legislation as will fully carry out the purpose of the law authorizing the hiring out of the convicts sentenced to county chain-gangs.

Under existing laws, misdemeanor convicts may be put to work on the public roads of the county in which they are sentenced; or they may be hired to other counties, or to municipal corporations. I do not understand that the law makes provision for any other disposition of them. Yet in some sections of the State I find such convicts hired to irresponsible individuals, who do not treat them with that humanity and care the law contemplates. Again, the law provides that "it shall be the duty of all persons having charge of chain-gangs composed of persons who have been convicted of misdemeanor and are working out their sentence, to keep a book in which shall be entered the names of the person or persons so under his charge, and at the end of each laboring day he shall record opposite the name of each their conduct during that day and should it appear from this book that the conduct of any one has been good, and that he has been diligent in performing the work assigned to him, then such person's time of service and confinement shall be shortened four days in each and every month for the time of sentence."

The State has no
means of knowing that these enactments are obeyed. If not obeyed, convicts may be detained in prison longer than the judgment of the court demands, and held entirely at the mercy of those who control their labor. The State has no officer charged with the care and protection of county convicts against the authority and abuse of those who have them in control. The periodical investigations made by the grand juries are not sufficient to protect these prisoners from abuse. These convicts are prisoners of the State, no less than the convicts in the penitentiary, who are guarded and cared for by a well equipped department of State. The county convicts need the State's care and constant watchfulness fully as much as the convicts in the penitentiary.

I respectfully and earnestly suggest, therefore, that the General Assembly make such enactment as will thoroughly protect county convicts in their rights; and that you provide for the appointment of some official, whose duty it shall be to inspect the county chain-gangs at proper intervals, to see that the laws are carried out, that the convicts are humanely treated, and that they are fully credited with the time due them for their good conduct.

W J. Northen.

On motion of Mr. Hodge, referred to Penitentiary Committee.

Mr. Speaker:

The undersigned, members of the Finance Committee, beg leave to submit the following minority report on House Bill No. 9; being an act to establish a Confederate Soldiers' Home, and for other purposes:

We oppose the passage of the bill for the following reasons, to-wit:
We believe the passage of the bill will do great injustice to a very large portion of our old ex-Confederate soldiers.

That the passage of the bill will necessitate the expenditure of large sums of money by the State without meeting the ends sought in the bill.

We believe that for the State to accept the property and appropriate money with a view to future enhanced values, is unsound legislation and dangerous to the best interests of the State.

The depressed financial condition of our people demands retrenchment instead of extravagance at the hands of legislators.

Believing it the sworn duty of legislators to protect the interest of all classes of our citizens alike, we are constrained to submit this report.

Mr. Speaker:

It is, perhaps, due the House of Representatives that I should more formally respond to the resolution of the Hon. Mr. Tatum in relation to the communications and applications received by me from the ordinaries and others, upon the subject of admission in the Confederate Soldiers’ Home. I have very great pleasure in doing so and will say that I have already placed in the hands of the Hon. W. H. Fleming all letters, and, in the hands of Hon. E. W. Martin, a list of the applicants for the use of the Home.

There have been some verbal applications—the number I do not know—not having kept a list of them. It will be observed that not many of the ordinaries replied—the communications being mainly from those for whose benefit the Home was erected. I trust it may not be deemed inappropriate to say that the trustees have no personal interest in this matter and no desire to put heavy burdens on the State. Patriotic and generous citizens have furnished the site and erected upon it a beautiful structure, and directed us to tender it to the State, almost without condition, as a home and resting place for her sons who upheld her honor and, now, invoke her justice and generosity. They will not require it long. In a few years they will have fallen asleep on her bosom and be at rest in their final home. We have an implicit faith that Georgia's sons—Georgia's representatives—will grant this most reasonable demand so that not one of her old soldiers—no not one—will be in want, or die an outcast and a pauper.

Respectfully submitted.

Mr. Allen, chairman of Committee on Railroads, submitted the following report:

Mr. Speaker:

The Committee on Railroads have had under consideration the following bill, which they instruct me to report back to the House, with the recommendation that the same do not pass, to-wit:

An act to amend section 708 of the Code of Georgia.

J. Y. Allen, Chairman.
Mr Fleming, chairman Committee on Privileges and Elections, submitted the following report:

Mr. Speaker:

The Committee on Privileges and Elections have had under consideration the contested election case from the county of Douglas, in which Hon. G. W. Burnett was contestant, and Hon. J. D. Camp, the sitting member, was contestee, and have directed me as their chairman to submit the following report thereon:

The grounds of contest were substantially as follows:

1. Illegal votes.
2. Ineligibility of Mr. Camp by reason of non-residence.
3. Ineligibility of Mr. Camp by reason of non-payment of taxes.
4. Force and fraud at election.
5. Buying of votes.
6. Improper action of managers.
7. Placing old tax lists, that had been off, in the hands of officers to prevent defendants therein from voting.
8. Holding elections at certain precincts not established by law.

At the hearing before the committee, the contestant abandoned the last ground above set out regarding the precincts, and thus removed it from further consideration.

The contestee, at the time of taking the testimony, demurred to the sufficiency of the notice served upon him, as to the 1st, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th grounds, and pressed that demurrer before the committee.

The ground of demurrer upon each point was that the notice did not specify the facts, but dealt only in general and vague terms. Applying the usual rule of law and the decisions of the Supreme Court to the pleadings, the committee sustained the demurrer as to the 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, and 7th grounds of contest, and over-ruled the demurrer to the 3rd ground, thus leaving the second and third...
grounds to be considered, both of which involved the ineligibility of the sitting member, one for non-residence and the other for non-payment of taxes.

Upon both of these grounds, the committee considered not only all the evidence in the record as taken at the hearing in the county, but allowed each side the privilege of swearing and examining additional witnesses in person before the committee, in order to arrive at the truth.

After full deliberation the committee decided that Hon.
J. D. Camp was a resident of the county of Douglas, and had been a resident for the period required by law; also, that he had paid all taxes required of him by law, and was entitled to retain his seat.

The committee therefore recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved by the House, That at the election held in Doul­ glas county on October 5, 1892, Hon. J. D. Camp received a majority of the legal votes for representative, and that he is and was eligible to membership in this House, and that he is entitled to retain his seat.

Respectfully submitted.

WM. H. FLEMING, Chairman.

November 21, 1892.

On motion of Mr. Fleming, the report of the committee

Mr. Speaker:

The Senate and House Committees on the Deaf and Dumb Institute beg to submit the following report:

Our committees, consisting of Senators Smith of the 15th Dist., Wright of the 38th Dist., Moore of the 6th Dist., and Blalock of the 26th Dist., and Representatives Smith of Telfair, Bryan, Fulcher, Hurst, McLemore, Boyd, Ferguson, Harrison of Crawford, Holbrook, Johnson of Clinch, Lumsden, Neel of Floyd, Neisler, Richards, Strickland, Sumner and Dempsey, left Atlanta on Thursday afternoon, November 17, at 1:30, by the E. T., V & G. Ry., arriving in Cave Spring at 8 o'clock the same evening.

Friday was consumed by the committee in the work assigned to it. By appropriate sub-committees, each department of the institution was carefully inspected, and the management and practical workings of the same critically examined.

The sub-committee on the examination of books and vouchers of the principal, and the secretary and treasurer of the institute did their work carefully and well, and report that the same are kept in good shape, and that all moneys expended are accounted for by proper vouchers, examined and approved by the sub-committee. The examination extended from the date of the last examination by a legislative committee, in November, 1890, up to September 30th, 1892. The books of the institution show two funds from which expenditures have been made. It appears that $15,000 was appropriated by the last Legislature as a building fund, to which has been added $290.00 received from an insurance company for insurance on building damaged by fire. All the above fund has been properly and judiciously expended on approved vouchers, except $35.02, which is now in the hands of the treasurer to the credit of the building fund.

The support fund is the appropriation made for the maintenance and support of the institution from year to year. The last Legislature appropriated for the two years of 1891-1892, the sum of $34,000, or $17,000 annually, for the support of the institution, the same being advanced to the Treasurer quarterly in sums of $4,250. Upon a careful examination of the Treasurer's books, and the approved vouchers of the Principal, and President of the Board of Trustees, it is found that $1,896.15 has been expended up to September 30, 1892 in excess of the appropriation made for that time. This amount has been borrowed, or drawn from the appropriation for the quarter beginning October 1, 1892, and will leave a deficiency of that amount, (and possibly a little more) when the year closes.

We believe that the managers of the institution have exercised economy and judgment in the expenditure of the money intrusted to them by the State; the conclusion therefore, necessarily follows, that the annual appropriations made for the past two years have been inadequate to meet the growing needs of this worthy and admirably managed institution.

We feel constrained to recommend that an appropriation be made to meet the above named deficiency, and that the annual appropriation for the next year be slightly increased. It is believed that no public institution in the State is more successfully or economically managed than the Institute for the Deaf and Dumb, and it seems only just that the State should make such provisions for its support as may be absolutely needed.

The present Legislature is asked to make certain appropriations for permanent improvements, which the management of the institution think are necessary to properly provide for the wants of the inmates. This is a matter to which the committee has given careful and painstaking attention. By appropriate sub-committees the buildings and grounds have been deliberately examined and certain conclusions reached. It is the opinion of the committee that the Legislature should make the following appropriations for the purposes named:

For finishing rooms in dormitory $800.00
For increasing capacity of stand-pipes 650.00
For piping building for fire protection 500.00
For plumbing for boys and girls lavatory 500.00
For repairs on building, col’d dep’t 500.00
For repairs on buildings, white dep’t. (new blinds for dormitory and new floor) 800.00
For furniture for schools and otherwise 1,000 00
For drainage of grounds 500 00
For fencing 250 00

$5,500 00

Several other items of appropriation have been asked for by the manager of the institution that are desirable and would add to the convenience and advantages of the inmates, but feeling an earnest desire to economize in every possible way, we feel constrained to limit our recommendation for appropriations to the lowest possible amount.

Mr. Stewart, of Rockdale, chairman of Committee on Lunatic Asylum, begs leave to submit the following report:

Mr. Speaker:

Your Committee on the Lunatic Asylum have visited that institution, and after a careful survey of the same, beg leave to report.

The buildings and grounds of the Asylum are in a good state of preservation, with the exception of some decay in the rough casting of the outer walls, which ought to be renewed in the near future, and some of the floors which give evidence of considerable wear from long and constant use, and will have to be replaced in the course of a very few years.

The internal condition of the halls and wards throughout the entire buildings, is a marvel of neatness and cleanliness, of which we cannot speak too highly. While the order, system and perfect control of the inmates, speak in terms that are unmistakable of the ability and faithfulness of the officers in charge, as well as the employees, to whose care the details of the establishment are necessarily to a large extent entrusted.

We find, however, that the accommodations are not sufficient for the proper care of the large number of patients now on hand. Many of them have to be crowded into rooms too small for the number of occupants, and many of the parlors and recreation rooms that ought to be used for these purposes only, have had to be converted into sleeping apartments, and yet there are more than one hundred people in the State who have been, by proper authority adjudged insane and entitled to the benefits of this asylum, that cannot be received for want of room, and are confined in the jails of the different counties of the State.

The trustees and the superintendent have asked for additional room, and have pointed out to us how the same can be had at a small cost, and your committee have agreed that such additional accommodations should be allowed them as follows:

The amusement halls of the buildings used for convalescents, the one for males and the other for females, are only one story high, and the walls being of brick, and built with an eye to future enlargement are capable of sustaining two additional stories each, and if these stories were added, they would give room for many additional patients. A twelve room brick building, at present occupied by the assistant physician and his family, could be used for patients if a cottage was built for the assistant physician and his family. These additions and improvements, it is estimated by the civil engineer, could be completed at a cost of twenty-two ($22,000) thousand dollars. And room would thus be made for something over two hundred patients, thereby relieving the overcrowded condition of the existing wards, and enabling the institution to receive all the insane persons for whom applications have been made from the various counties of the State.

The laundry, we are satisfied, is inadequate to the wants of the institution, and ought to be enlarged and furnished with additional machinery, the estimated cost of which is fifteen hundred dollars.

There is an urgent need of several fire walls in the main building, and these, it is estimated, could be constructed by running up existing walls until they pierce the roof, at a cost of twelve hundred dollars. If this was done it would be possible to confine any fire that might occur to the apartment in which it originated, while in the present condition of the building the whole structure would inevitably burn down if once a fire became fairly started in any part of it.
We examined into the finances of the institution, and are satisfied that the same have been administered during the past two years, faithfully, economically and honestly. The system of bookkeeping is thorough, minute, exact and easily understood, and every item of receipts and expenditure is properly verified by duplicate vouchers which were exhibited to a sub-committee of our number, and their examination was entirely satisfactory. A re-examination can be had at any time by going through the accounts and vouchers on file in the office of the Governor in this capitol building.

The accounts show a balance on hand on the 1st of October, 1892, from the appropriations for the fiscal year ending September 30, of six thousand nine hundred and forty-one dollars and eighty-two cents ($6,941.82). This balance has been accumulated by reason of the fact that the expenses are less during the summer months, owing to a smaller consumption of fuel, less bedding and lighter clothing, while the subsistence department is greatly aided by the vegetables from the farm and garden, so that the monthly outlay is considerably less than during the winter. But this balance will be entirely absorbed by the increased expenses of the winter months now upon us.

The trustees ask for an increase of the appropriation for maintenance and support of the institution over that allowed for the past two years, because while they have kept the expenses within said appropriation and have operated it at a per capita cost per diem of only thirty-three and one-third cents, yet they have not been able to give as good attendance, clothing and food as was best for the patients, nor in many other respects to put the institution on the plane of a first-class lunatic asylum.

Your committee agrees with them that the appropriation should be more liberal for the next two years, but owing to the stringency of the times, the poverty of our people and the heavy burden of our State taxes, we are not disposed to grant the full amount of forty cents per capita per dien as asked by them. But we think the appropriation of one hundred and ninety thousand dollars allowed per annum for the last two years for maintenance, support and ordinary repairs should be increased to two hundred thousand.

We believe that the amount of insurance carried on the property of the State at the asylum is entirely incommensurate with the value of the property, and we recommend that the amount of the policy of insurance be increased to such an amount as may be deemed proper by the Finance Committee, simply stating that the present policy, which we learn is for two hundred and twenty-six thousand dollars, is not equal to more than one-fourth of the value of the property insured, which is over one million of dollars.

The farm, garden and dairy connected with the asylum we believe to be a fine adjunct for the same. Large quantities of beef, pork, milk, butter, potatoes and garden vegetables are produced and furnished to the inmates and employees of the institution, adding much to the health and comfort of all; while the convenience of having such things on the spot instead of having to buy them from other sources, to say nothing of the economy of it, commends it strongly to our approval.

The success of the farm is sufficiently attested by the tables found in the biennial report of the institution, and our personal observation and examination of the various departments of the farm satisfy us of the high capacity with which it is managed. We beg to recapitulate as follows:

1. The external condition of the buildings and grounds are such as to call for no extra appropriations at present—ordinary repairs, such as are understood to be included in the appropriation for maintenance, being all that is necessary.

2. The internal condition of the buildings, the care and comfort of the inmates, the order, discipline and effectiveness of all employees attest the capacity and faithfulness of the Superintendent, officers and trustees to be of the highest order and deserving of the highest encomiums of the committee, the General Assembly and of the whole State. And we wish to add that all of the above is equally applicable to both the white and colored departments of the institution.

3. There is urgent necessity for more room, which can be had at a cost of twenty-two thousand dollars, with which amount room can be had for over two hundred additional patients, or if only one of the amusement halls be added to, as above suggested, and the physicians' cottage be built, room for about two-thirds of that number will be secured at a cost of twelve thousand dollars.

4. Additions to the laundry are needed to the amount of fifteen hundred dollars.

5. Fire walls should be constructed, costing twelve hundred dollars.

6. We found the financial affairs of the institution in a satisfactory condition, and believe they have been carefully, economically and honestly administered.

7. We recommend that the following appropriations be made:

For putting two stories on one of the amusement halls and building a cottage for the assistant physician, twelve thousand dollars $12,000
For enlarging laundry, fifteen hundred dollars 1,500
For constructing fire walls, twelve hundred dollars 1,200
For support and maintenance of the institution per annum for the next two years, two hundred thousand dollars 200,000

Making a total of $214,700

All of which is respectfully submitted.

MINORITY REPORT ON HOUSE BILL NO. 5.

A bill to repeal an act to declare void all obligations to pay attorneys' fees in addition to interest in any note, etc.; known as the "Twitty Bill."

Mr. Speaker:

The undersigned, members of the Committee on General Judiciary, beg leave to submit the following minority report on House bill No. 5, which is a bill to repeal an act to declare void all obligations to pay attorneys, fees in addition to interest in any note, etc.; known as the "Twitty Bill."
We agree with the majority of the committee, that the act sought to be repealed was an unwise and impolitic piece of legislation, and that its effect has been and must continue to be obstructive to the business interests of the State, and that it does not and cannot relieve the distress of the borrowing class.

But on the other hand we recognize the fact that serious abuses had grown up under the old custom of incorporating obligations for ten per cent. attorneys' fees into printed notes, mortgages, etc., by which exhorbitant fees were in many cases collected out of defendants.

To repeal the Twitty bill would remove one class of evils, but would leave us exposed to another class.

We believe that by proper legislation both classes of abuses can be corrected.

We submit the bill hereto attached, marked "A" as a substitute for the original bill, in the belief that the solution therein proposed is on the right line, namely, "reasonable charges for services actually rendered," though perhaps, the substitute may be further improved by amendment.

This plan will ensure the lender the return of his money without costs for collection, and will protect the borrower against extortion.

Respectfully submitted.

Wm. H. Fleming,
John I. Hall,
E. D. Graham.

Substitute for House Bill, No. 5.
"A"

A bill to be entitled an act to amend an act entitled, "an act to declare all obligations to pay attorney's fees in addition to the interest specified therein, upon any note, or other evidences of indebtedness, void and of no effect, and to prohibit the collection of the same, and for other purposes," approved July 22, 1891, so as to allow obligations to pay attorneys' fees to be valid, and to limit and regulate the collection of the same, and for other purposes.
SECTION 1. That said act be also amended by striking out from the first section all words following the word "act," in line three of the published act, as contained in the Georgia Laws 1890-91, vol. 1, page 221, and inserting in lieu thereof the following words: "No obligation to pay attorneys' fees contained in any note, orlike evidence of indebtedness, or in any contract, for the payment of money, whether in writing (or in parol), shall be enforced in any of the courts of this State for any sum greater than reasonable compensation for the services actually rendered by the attorney up to and including the entering of judgment on such note, evidence of indebtedness or contract, or up to tender of payment of the debt and reasonable compensation for the attorneys' services, if such tender has been made, and such reasonable compensation shall, in no case, exceed ten per cent. of the amount due."

So that said title to said act and said first section shall read as follows:

"An act to limit and regulate the collection of attorneys' fees in certain cases, and for other purposes."

SECTION 1 Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Georgia, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That, from and after the passage of this act, no obligation to pay attorneys' fees contained in any note, or like evidence of indebtedness, or in any contract for the payment of money, whether in writing or in parol, shall be enforced in

A bill to amend an act to establish, organize and maintain a State Normal School, as a branch to the University; to appropriate money for the same, and for other purposes; approved October 21, 1891.

Respectfully submitted.

H. W. J. Ham, Chairman.

Mr. Neel, of Floyd, chairman of the Joint Committee to visit the Colored Industrial School, submitted the following report:

Mr. Speaker:

The Joint Committee of the House and Senate appointed to visit the Industrial School for colored students, recently established at Savannah, Ga., have discharged the duty imposed by the joint resolution under which they were appointed, and beg to submit the following report:

The committee visited the school on Wednesday, November 30th, and thoroughly inspected the buildings and grounds of the college property, and also carefully examined the methods of instruction and the course of study prescribed by the faculty of the school.

The college is located about four miles from Savannah, and is easily accessible by good roads and electric car lines. The grounds comprise about eighty-five acres of excellent land, of which thirty-two acres have been set apart for a college campus, and the balance is used as a farm in which the students are instructed in practical agriculture.

The location is one of the most beautiful and attractive college sites in the South. The campus is shaded by tall live oaks festooned with pendant moss, and the college buildings command a view of forest, field and river that is beautiful beyond description. The location is said to be perfectly healthful. Ten acres of land and one of the buildings were donated to the School by a citizen of Savannah, and the remainder of the property was purchased by the Board of Commissioners at a remarkably low figure, considering the location and desirability of the property.

By the judicious expenditure of a comparatively small amount of money the buildings that were already on the lands have been remodeled and utilized, the one for a dormitory for the school boys and the other for class and recitation rooms.

Two other neat wooden buildings have been erected, one for a residence for the college farmer, and the other for the members of the faculty. A small barn has also been constructed, and one of the out-buildings already on the farm has been turned into a carpenter shop, where the students are instructed in mechanical work. These constitute the buildings now on the college grounds.

The school has been in operation only a short time—about one year—but the committee found that substantial progress had been made in the industrial features of the institution. Land has been cleared, fences built, ditches dug, stumps taken up and a truck farm is already well under way. This department of the school is under the management of a practical and successful colored farmer, who instructs the students in practical agriculture, and requires them to perform actual manual labor on the farm every working day. He seems to take pride in his work, and has achieved gratifying results, considering the length of time employed.

The carpenter shop is also under the direction of a colored man, who has taken a special course in a Northern school in order to be prepared for this work. The shop has only been in operation a few weeks, and it is now too early to determine its probable results. The foreman of the shop is a young colored man of intelligence and energy, and it is believed that, with proper facilities for carrying on his work, much practical good will result to the students. It is proper to state that the carpenter shop now used is small and badly adapted to the purposes intended.
But it was the best building available, and can be used until a better building is provided.

The committee gave careful attention to the methods of instruction in the school, and to the course of study prescribed. It was gratifying to note that practical methods prevail throughout. The course of study and training includes English language and literature, mathematics, natural sciences, mechanical arts, (wood and metal working) and agriculture. It is expected that military tactics and other special courses of study will be added. All the class rooms were visited by the committee, and every opportunity was afforded to watch and test the students in their work. The result was surprising and gratifying.
The discipline of the school is excellent, and the methods of instruction are practical to a remarkable degree. Every member of the faculty is a colored man, and each seemed thoroughly familiar with his work. Emphasis is given in the school to the importance of training the hands as well as the mind, and every student is required to perform manual labor on the farm and in the shops.

The number of pupils now in actual attendance is 55, representing 23 counties; and others are expected. It is probable that the dormitories and school buildings will have to be enlarged at an early day to meet the growing demands of the school, and the rapidly increasing attendance of pupils.

Certain features of this school are yet in a crude state, but the progress made is remarkable in view of the length of time it has been in operation, and it is believed that the school is calculated to accomplish splendid results for the colored youths of Georgia. It is something new and unique to find an institution of this character officered and managed entirely by colored men. It was the suggestion of the president of the Board of Trustees, and the idea is believed to be a good one. These colored teachers seem to appreciate the responsibility that is resting upon them, and appear to be striving earnestly to discharge their full duty. We commend them for their work.

But it is believed that much of the success of this school is the result of the zeal, wisdom and well-directed energy, of Hon. P W Meldrim, the president of the local board of trustees. He has worked untiringly for the college, and has, without compensation or the expectations of reward, given much time and thought to the location, equipment and organization of this school. To his skill, judgment, tact and executive ability, is largely due the splendid results so rapidly accomplished. The pupils and faculty are devotedly attached to Mr. Meldrim, and accord to him the most unstinted praise for his earnest and unselfish work in their behalf. He gives to the school his close, personal supervision, and encourages every laudable effort to excel.

The committee was impressed with the economical and judicious manner in which the money appropriated to this school has been expended. The property is admirably located and is believed to be worth much more than it cost. The Treasurer reports a balance in his hands unexpended, and the college finances seem to be in a satisfactory condition.

The only recommendation made by the committee at this time is, that an appropriation be made to build and equip a carpenter shop, suitable for instructing the students in mechanics and the simple methods of wood and metal working. We make this recommendation on our own motion, for the reason that the present facilities for wood and metal working are wholly inadequate, and we consider this one of the most important departments of the institution.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
ATLANTA, GA, December 10, 1892.

To the House of Representatives:

I return to the House of Representatives, without my approval, House Bill No. 187, "To fix the compensation of the County Board of Education of Elbert county; to provide for the payment of the same, and for other purposes."

This bill is violative of paragraph 1 of section 4 of article 1 of the Constitution, which requires that "laws of a general nature shall have uniform operation throughout the State, and no special law shall be granted in any case, for which provision has been made by an existing general law."

The school law of the State is a general law, and in its provision is made for the compensation of members of the Boards of Education for the several counties throughout the State. This bill seeks to make a change in the general law, and authorizes compensation to members of the Board of Education for for Elbert county different from that received by members of other county boards. For this reason I decline to approve it.

W J. Northen.
Mr. Hill, of Wilkes, chairman of the Committee on the part of the House, to visit the World’s Fair at Chicago, submitted the following report:

Mr. Speaker:

The Special Committee appointed to visit the World’s Columbian Exposition at Chicago to inquire into the advisability of an appropriation out of the State Treasury, for the purpose of making an exhibit of the resources of the State at said exposition, beg leave to submit the following report:

The committee visited the exposition grounds, and inspected the work done, and had outlined to them the future plans of the Exposition managers. The committee were impressed with the magnitude of the undertaking. Nearly all of the building approached completion, so that the committee could form a fair estimate of what the Exposition managers hope to accomplish. We unhesitatingly pronounce the Exposition the grandest affair of the kind, in our opinion, that has ever been attempted by man. One hundred and fifty-nine-acres of buildings, some of them of magnitude almost passing comprehension, yet, of surprising architectural beauty, will contain an exhibit of the world’s resources on a scale of magnitude almost indescribable. We found that the States of the Union are fully alive to the fact, that a grand opportunity is about to be presented to them, whereby they can advertise their resources, and thus invite immigration and capital. Thirty-one states have appropriated out of their State Treasuries for the purpose of making State exhibits, $3,441,000; all the other states in the Union will be represented by private enterprise save four. Thus far, Georgia is classed as one of these laggards.

Nearly every foreign country in the world has provided for an exhibit; the amount thus far appropriated aggregating $5,956,449. Even little Hayti feels that she can afford to expend $25,000 for this laudable purpose, and has had the wisdom to set that sum aside to be expended to this end.

We feel deeply impressed with the immense advantage to be derived by our people by a proper exposition of our wealth. Our absence on the occasion of this great fair seems to us to be criminal negligence on the part of the people of Georgia. The failure to set forth to the world our immense resources at this time seems deplorable. Our minerals, our woods, the varied products of her generous soil would make an exhibit that would compare favorably with that of any country in the world. The home seeker might be informed that we have a climate unsurpassed, that we have good school facilities and churches, we are a law-abiding community; that we have fertile soil, at reasonable prices, that yield abundant fruits to intelligent cultivation; that labor receives just compensation and that the honest and industrious can gain an easy livelihood.

The capitalists could be told of the vast wealth of minerals that lie hidden under thin covering of soil, and only await the approach of capital to become factors in the world's wealth; they could be told of our water power, sufficient for all purposes, for all time to come; of the favored advantages of our State as a manufacturing center; all this and more would make up a proper exposition of our resources and advantages.

The committee is of the opinion that a liberal appropriation made at this session of the legislature would result in less than twelve months to the pecuniary advantage of the State. We believe that a proper display on the lines indicated will attract so much capital to Georgia as that the amount of taxes imposed upon said capital, so attracted will in the first year more than equal the amount of any appropriation that may be made.

And, yet upon the threshold of our inquiry we are met with the constitutional inhibition that in this instance seems to stand as a bar to progress. Our Constitution positively forbids the appropriation. Were it not for this fact your committee would gladly recommend a liberal appropriation for this purpose. The best legal minds advise the committee that the constitutional inhibition precludes the idea of the setting aside of any sum for this purpose, and hence, for this reason, and this reason alone, we are constrained to advise against any appropriation.

The failure of the State to make any appropriation need not necessarily dishearten us. Quite a number of our States are represented by private enterprises. Their public spirited citizens, those with large landed, mineral, lumber, manufacturing and industrial interests, have banded together and by concerted action are preparing elaborate displays which must necessarily rebound to the great advantage of the State and to the promoters individually.

We urge our people to take immediate action on the line indicated. The time is limited. We feel that something ought to be done and at once. The committee pledge themselves individually to assist to the extent of their power in the furtherance of such a patriotic endeavor.

Respectfully submitted,

Ed. Y Hill, Chairman.

Mr. Askew, chairman of the Committee on Journals, reported that the Journal had been examined and approved.

The Journal was then read and confirmed.

Mr. Harrison gave notice to reconsider so much of the Journal as relates to House bill No. 356, to authorize the Governor to appoint an agent to look after the property of the State in Tennessee and on the line of the W & A. R. R.

The following message was received from the Senate, through W A. Harris, Secretary thereof:

_Mr. Speaker:_

The Senate has passed, by the requisite constitutional majority, the following Senate bills, to-wit:

A bill to be entitled an act to amend an act, approved October 19, 1891, entitled an act to establish city courts in counties having a population of fifteen thousand or more, where the same do not now exist, upon recommendation of grand juries in said counties, and for other purposes, by striking out the words "fifteen thousand" and inserting in lieu thereof "ten thousand."

Also, a bill to be entitled an act to provide for appeals in habeas corpus cases, and for other purposes.

Also, a bill to be entitled an act to repeal an act, approved February 22d, 1877, to prohibit the sale of spirituous liquors within the limits of Wilcox county.

Also, a bill to be entitled an act to amend an act to amend, revise and consolidate the common school laws of the State of Georgia, and for other purposes; approved October 27th, 1887

The Senate has refused to pass the following bills of the House, to-wit:

A bill to define the right and power to hold and vote shares in the capital stock of railroad companies by trustees and other representatives, and for other purposes.
Also, a bill to authorize suits to be brought against receivers for managers of any property, appointed by any court in this State, and for other purposes.

Also, a bill to define the liability of receivers of railroads, for torts committed by their employees, and for other purposes.

Also, a bill to limit the issuance of stocks and bonds and the creation of floating indebtedness by railroad companies, and for other purposes.

The Senate has also indefinitely postponed the following bill of the House, to-wit:

A bill to provide for the acceptance by the State of Georgia of the property known as the Soldiers' Home of Georgia.

Also, a bill to make the wrecking of a railroad company, or an attempt, or a conspiracy to wreck a railroad company, a felony.

Also, a bill to amend an act to provide for the extension of the corporate limits of the city of Columbus.

Also, a bill to amend Section 3331 of the Code.

The following message was received from the Senate through Mr. Harris, the Secretary thereof:

Mr. Speaker:

The Senate has passed, as amended, the following bill of the House, to-wit:

A bill to make appropriations for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Judicial and Legislative departments of the Government, and for other purposes.

The following message was received from the Senate, through W. A. Harris, Secretary thereof:

Mr. Speaker:

The Senate has agreed to the House amendment to the following Senate bill, to-wit:
A bill to amend an act, approved February 28th, 1874, establishing a new charter for the city of Atlanta.

The following message was received from the Governor, through Mr. W. H. Harrison, Secretary of the Executive department:

Mr. Speaker:

I am directed by the Governor to return to the House of Representatives, House Bill No. 13, "To amend Section 178 of the Code of Georgia, so as to change the time for the meeting of the General Assembly at its second annual session"—together with his reasons for withholding from said bill his approval.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Atlanta, Ga., December 15, 1892.

To the House of Representatives:

I respectfully return to the House of Representatives, without my approval, House Bill No. 13, "To amend Section 178 of the Code of Georgia, so as to change the time for the meeting of the General Assembly at its second annual session."

This bill is, in my opinion, clearly contrary to the letter and the spirit of the Constitution of this State.

Paragraph 3, section 4, article 3, of the Constitution, as recently amended, declares that the sessions of the General Assembly shall be held "annually." The plainest construction to be put upon this clause will not allow an enactment simply fixing the sessions in different calendar years, but it requires the beginning of the sessions to be separated by one year to be made "annual."

Whatever may be the ordinary interpretation of the term "annually," the one just given must be the interpretation intended here, as the paragraph under consideration further requires that the sessions shall be held, not only "annually," but on "the same day."
I respectfully submit, therefore, that "annual" sessions cannot be held on the "same day," if one session begins on the "fourth" Wednesday of October and the other session on the "second" Wednesday in July.

The Constitution provides that "the day" may be changed by law and the opening of the session fixed for some other day than the day named, but it does not authorize the fixing of different days in different weeks of different months. The bill under consideration, I respectfully submit, does not change the day named in the Constitution, but, leaving it undisturbed, for the first session names altogether another day for the second session of this General Assembly.

It is further my opinion that the spirit of the Constitution would be violated if the sessions of the General Assembly should be held so near together on the one hand, and so widely apart on the other hand, as is proposed by this bill.

I feel quite safe in saying that whilst the purpose of the change from biennial to annual sessions of the General Assembly, was to provide for contingencies of government as they arise at shorter intervals, it was also intended to keep the periods equidistant, as before the change.

Again, the legislative year has always been made to accord with the fiscal year. A change of policy now would be unwise and hurtful, as the General Assembly would find itself at the beginning of its second session without such information from the different departments of the State as would suggest and determine suitable legislation to meet the needs of the State.

If this bill should become law and my construction of the Constitution should be found afterwards to be correct, the entire work of the next session of the General Assembly would be destroyed, with possible disaster to the State.

For these reasons I return the bill without my approval.

W. J. Northen.
Mr. McWhorter, of Oglethorpe, chairman of Committee on Roads and Bridges, submitted the following report:

Mr. Speaker:

The Committee on Roads and Bridges, have had under consideration the following bill, which I am instructed to report back to the House, with the recommendation that the same do not pass, to-wit:

A bill to amend the road laws of this State.
Respectfully submitted.

W P McWHORTER, Chairman.

The Journal was then read and confirmed.

Mr. Harrison moved to reconsider the action of the House on Bill No. 356, to authorize the Governor to appoint an agent to look after the property of the State.

The previous question was called. On this question the ayes and nays were called for.

Upon a call of the ayes and nays, the vote was as follows, to-wit:

Those voting in the affirmative were Messrs.—

Adams, Allen, Arnold, Ashburn, Bacon, Battle, Bennett, Bloodworth, of Monroe, Bloodworth, of Wilkes, Boifeuillet, Boynton, Booker, Brady, Branch, Bridges, Brinson, Calvin, Charters, Gordy, Hall, of Spalding, Hall, of Thomas, Ham, Harrison, of Quitman, Harrison, of Twiggs, Hendley, Pate, J. D. Pate, R. H. Paulk, Pearce, Rambo, Reagan, Roddenberry, Sears, Simms, Sinquefield, Stapleton, Stevens, Stewart, of Rockdale.

And the call was sustained.
Mr. Hill, of Meriwether, moved that the bill be taken up and put upon its passage.

Having received the required constitutional majority, the bill was passed, to-wit:

A bill to authorize the Governor to appoint an agent to look after the property of the State in Tennessee and on the line of the W & A. R. R.

The unfinished business being the report of the Gober Investigating Committee, was taken up and the report read as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

The joint committee appointed under the concurrent resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives to investigate the charges against Judge Geo. F. Gober contained in the memorial of W. C. Glenn and C. D. Maddox, beg leave to submit the following report:

The committee, in obedience to the terms of said resolution, organized on Friday, November 11th, 1892, and began the taking of testimony on Monday the 14th of November, due notice having been given to the memorialists and to Judge Gober.

Although the issues presented in the memorial appeared to be few, the testimony taken is very voluminous, and your committee was continuously and laborously engaged from that date until Tuesday, November 29th, remaining in session occupied with the examination of witnesses almost every night from five to six hours. A copy of the testimony thus taken by the committee we herewith submit, consisting of 736 pages of type-written matter.

A very large part of the testimony relates to the personal relations between the memorialists and Judge Gober, and of cumulative testimony on various points. Your committee deemed it its duty, and ad visable, to permit the widest range of examination consistent with the terms of the memorial.

The case out of which the occurrences arose was that of the State against Pendley and others, in which four persons were on trial under indictment for arson in Pickens Superior Court. Thirteen men had been jointly indicted for this offence. Of these, two had been previously, during said term of court, tried and convicted, and one had consented to a verdict of guilty. The crime for which these thirteen men had been indicted was the burning of a dwelling house in the night time in which there were three women and some children.

Much of the evidence before the committee relates to the occurrences during the trial of the four men, Tom Pendley, Harrison Jones, Tom and Eli Fields, and the respective conduct of the judge and the memorialists. It is not deemed necessary that a report should be made on this feature of the evidence. There is much conflicting testimony relating to it. The stenographic report of the trial discloses very little relative to the matter, and the testimony on the subject relates rather to the manner of the judge and the counsel than to any particular words spoken. We do not deem a report upon the evidence taken upon this subject to be within the scope of the memorial, or within the proper limits of the investigation by the legislature. The evidence, however, is submitted to the General Assembly on this as well as on all other points.

The printed arguments of counsel on both sides, which we submit to the General Assembly with this report, contain some discussion of this feature of the testimony, and will be sufficient, without anything further from the committee, to put the General Assembly in possession of all the needed information as to the occurrence, of a personal character on that trial, and a laborious examination of the voluminous testimony will not be required to gain any needed information on the subject.

The committee have been unable to discover from the testimony that, upon the trial of this case, there was an amount of personal heat upon the part of either court or counsel greater than is frequently found on the trial of cases of this magnitude and of an exciting nature, although the record discloses the fact that there were exceptional circumstances attending the trial of this case upon which the committee does not now deem it necessary to comment.

The first distinct issue raised by the memorial, taken in the order of occurrence, is that the judge, after the conviction of these four men, refused to entertain a motion in arrest of judgment which was presented, or to sanction a motion for new trial, or to grant a supersedeas upon either the one or the other; and that he, in disregard of the application for a supersedeas, tyrannously sentenced these men to the penitentiary, and in the order required them to be carried to the common jail of Cobb county, from whence they were, on the succeeding day, taken by the penitentiary guards direct to the penitentiary.

The facts disclosed by the testimony on this charge are substantially as follows:

The verdict of guilty was brought into court against these men on Thursday morning of the second week of the court. Counsel for the defence presented to the judge a motion in arrest of judgment. They also presented what is commonly known as a skeleton motion for new trial, containing the usual formal grounds to the effect that the verdict was against the law and contrary to the evidence, etc. With this motion for new trial there was no brief of the evidence offered. The judge failed to take any action on the same during the day, the testimony showing that he was engaged in the trial of a jury case. He made an appointment to meet the counsel at the court room at night after supper. Counsel went to the court room, and the judge sent word by the sheriff that he could not keep the appointment as he was sick. On the investigation by this committee the judge swore that on said night he was too sick to attend to the business. On the succeeding morning (Friday) the judge, with the solicitor-general, rode out of town, there being at the time a jury out in the case which had been tried on the previous day. The jury was hung, and upon a telegram from counsel in that case agreeing to a mistrial, addressed to the judge at Tate's Station, he took the train and went to Marietta. This was in the month of May, 1890, during the April term of Pickens Superior Court. Before leaving the court, the judge passed an order continuing that term of the court, to be reconvened on the 5th day of June, having notified counsel for the defence that he would do so, and that on said date they could be prepared with their motion for new trial and a brief of evidence in the case.

Upon the conviction of the prisoners on Thursday, the judge had passed an order sentencing them to the penitentiary and requiring them to be immediately taken to the common jail of Cobb county for safe keeping until called for by the penitentiary guard. The order is in the usual form and verbiage used by judges of the Superior Court in sentencing convicts to the penitentiary. The prisoners were removed from Jasper, the county site of Pickens county, on the day of their conviction and carried to Marietta, where they were placed in jail. On the succeeding day they were called for by a penitentiary guard, and, together with other prisoners who had been previously convicted at Pickens Superior Court, and also sent to Cobb county jail, were taken direct to the penitentiary. Judge Gober testified that he gave no special orders with reference to the removal of these four prisoners to the penitentiary. Upon conviction of the prisoners tried during the first week of the court, the judge had caused the principal keeper of the penitentiary to be notified, and when the guard went to Marietta for the prisoners, both those convicted during the first and second week were taken to the penitentiary.

The questions arising out of this removal of the prisoners from Pickens county to the Cobb county jail, whence they were taken to the penitentiary, have been considered by the committee in two aspects. First, whether the judge violated any express law in refusing or failing to order a supersedeas; and, second, if it was a matter in his discretion, did his conduct amount to such an abuse of this discretion as would justify legislative condemnation.

As to the question of express requirement of law, section 1263 of the Code of Georgia makes no provision for a supersedeas in a criminal case until the filing of a bill of exceptions. There is no rule laid down as to the duty of the judge in refusing or granting a supersedeas after the trial and conviction in a criminal case and prior to the filing of a bill of exceptions. The rule as to supersedeas in a civil case upon a rule nisi for a new trial, as provided in section 3724 of the Code, expressly states that such rule nisi for a new trial shall not operate as a supersedeas unless so ordered by the court.

Analogizing a rule nisi for a new trial in a criminal case to a rule nisi for a new trial in a civil case, it is under the law a matter of discretion with the judge whether he will grant a supersedeas prior to the filing of a bill of exceptions.

In this case a rule nisi for new trial had not been granted at the time the prisoners were sent to the penitentiary, but treating the question in its broadest significance, if there had been a perfected motion presented at the time, accompanied with the required brief of evidence, it would still have been a matter in the discretion of the judge whether he would supersede the judgment. The fact is, however, that although a skeleton motion for new trial had been presented, the same is not recognized by the law as a perfected motion in the absence of the brief of the evidence.

Considered, therefore, either as a perfect or imperfect motion for new trial, the grant or the refusal of a supersedeas would be a matter in the discretion of the judge.

When we enter upon a consideration of the question whether the judge abused his discretion in refusing to grant the supersedeas, the inquiry is limited by less definite rules than those which guide us in determining questions of prescribed law; it becomes more a matter of opinion, upon which man's impartial judgments will naturally differ. Your committee would suggest that the circumstances which then environed the judge should be taken into consideration in the effort to reach a just conclusion on this question.

The evidence disclosed that there had been several cases of house burning in the county, and that the public mind was greatly excited by the same. It was further shown that there was a secret organization in the county, and that although there was no proof that the commission of arson was one of the objects of the organization, it was, nevertheless, true that those who had committed the arsons were members of the organization. The particular arson for which these men had been convicted, as accessories before the fact, was a peculiarly atrocious one; a dwelling-house, occupied only by women and children, had been burned at night and these four men, while not actually firing the dwelling, had accompanied the actual perpetrators and were near by at the time of the perpetration of the deed. Previous to the trial the jail had been broken and a portion of the prisoners charged with the commission of the crime had been liberated, although these four particular prisoners had not been among the number thus liberated. It was shown by the testimony of Mr. F. C. Tate and
Mr. A. S. Clay and others that the judge had been notified by them that there were rumors of an intention to rescue these prisoners. That there was great excitement in the community is proven by the testimony of witnesses introduced both by the memorialists and by Judge Gober, although they differ as to the immediate cause of the excitement. On the part of Judge Gober it was shown that the apprehension of rescue was so great that he kept his court open on Sunday and kept the jail guarded by armed men. On the other hand, the evidence introduced by the memorialists shows that while there was great excitement in the community, it was due to their dissatisfaction with the manner of the trial of the prisoners.

The narration of the circumstances of such a situation can scarcely bring to those separated therefrom by time and distance a full realization of the effect upon the minds and feelings of those who were present in the midst of the same, whether these persons were the officials of the court or private citizens. Such surroundings must have their influence upon the judgment and actions of men, and in view of what was then presented to the mind and eye of the judge, we do not think his failure to grant the supersedeas is to be attributed to such a wanton disregard of the rights of the prisoners as would properly characterize his conduct in this regard an abuse of discretion so gross as to call for legislative condemnation. Other men under similar circumstances might have acted differently, but differences in temperament and differences in judgment will produce different results, each of which is within the range of the exercise of a legitimate discretion.

It is further to be considered whether the failure or refusal of the judge to grant a supersedeas when the motion in arrest of judgment was presented was either a violation of the law or an abuse of discretion.

There is no provision in the Code requiring a judge to grant a supersedeas upon a motion for arrest of judgment prior to the filing of the bill of exceptions. This question can only be determined by analogizing a motion in arrest of judgment to a motion for a new trial, and the same rule of law in the one, in the opinion of the committee, controls in the other. Testing the question by this rule, upon the presentation of a motion in arrest of judgment, and before the hearing of the same, and the hearing of the bill of exceptions, it was a matter in the discretion of the judge whether or not a supersedeas should be granted.

Whether this failure in this particular instance to grant a supersedeas upon the presentation of the motion in arrest of judgment was an abuse of such discretion, must be tested by the same circumstances as those above related under which a supersedeas was refused upon the filing of the skeleton motion for a new trial. In addition to this consideration, the fact must be borne in mind that the motion in arrest of judgment and the skeleton motion for new trial were practically filed at the same time; and Judge Gober testifies his purpose was to hear both of these motions at the same time, and that he did not consider that there was any merit in the motion in arrest of judgment.

It may be deemed an improper practice in a judge to refuse to grant a supersedeas upon the filing of either a motion for new trial or a motion in arrest of judgment. If it be conceded that this is true, the province of this investigation is not to settle the questions of correct or incorrect practice. If it ought to be the rule that upon the filing of a motion for new trial or a motion in arrest of judgment a supersedeas should be granted, in a criminal case, that is a matter to be corrected by legislative enactment for the government of judges, and in the absence of such an enactment, only such an abuse of discretion as is shown to be clearly and indisputably malicious and tyrannical will justify legislative condemnation. In passing on the question whether a judge abuses his discretion in refusing to grant a supersedeas in a criminal case, it is proper to consider whether the judge does or does not believe the prisoner to be guilty of the offence. Where a judge believes a prisoner to be innocent, there would be much stronger reason why he should grant a supersedeas than where he believes him to be guilty.

When the bill of exceptions is filed, the law requires the supersedeas to issue regardless of whether the judge believes him to be guilty or innocent, but until the filing of the bill of exceptions, the grant of a supersedeas is a matter in his discretion. In this particular case it is a fair conclusion from the evidence to say that the judge believed these prisoners to be guilty. The fact that he subsequently recommended their pardon does not conflict with this view, as his recommendation of pardon was not based upon any doubt expressed as to their guilt. The evidence shows that as soon as the bill of exceptions was filed, the supersedeas was issued and the prisoners ordered back from the penitentiary to Cobb county jail, where they remained until the dismissal of the case in the Supreme Court.

The second distinct issue raised by the memorial, taken in the order of occurrence, is that the judge, after the motion had been presented to him by defendants' counsel changed the same by taking out grounds of the motion which were in the original, and inserting others in lieu thereof which had not been put there by the counsel.

The consideration of this charge naturally divides itself into two branches: First, did the judge make any alteration of the motion for a new trial after the same had been approved by him. Second, whether, if such change was not made after the approval by him, there had been any change made prior to such approval, and if so, the nature and extent of such change or changes.

It is material to note the fact that a motion for a new trial is not recognized by the law as a record until it has been sanctioned and approved by the judge as correct. After the motion for new trial has been thus approved, and after it has thus been made a part of the record in the case, it has passed beyond the control of the judge, and he has no right to correct or change it in any particular, unless with the consent of the counsel or party to be affected thereby. If a judge, after having approved a motion for a new trial, and after it has thus become, in the eye of the law, a part of the records of the court, does make any change in such record, he is guilty of a very grave offense. It is material, therefore, to inquire whether the evidence shows that any alteration was made of this motion for new trial by Judge Gober after he had approved the same, and after it had thus become a record of the court. There is no question but that the motion for new trial as presented by the counsel for the prisoners was altered by Judge Gober, and the only question in this connection is as to the time when it was done. In other words, whether it was done before or after the approval of the grounds of the motion. To determine this, the controlling inquiry is, when was the motion for new trial approved, as there is no dispute about the fact that the change in the motion was made in September, 1890, at Pickens Superior Court. Judge Gober testifies that the motion was not approved by him until after the changes had been made. Mr. Maddox testifies that the motion for new trial was approved on the 5th of June. The written approval upon the motion is dated the 5th of June. Mr. Day, a witness introduced by the memorialists, who had been an associate counsel of the memorialists in the defense of these four prisoners, and who was present on the 5th of June when this motion was presented to him, testified that it was his recollection that on the 5th of June when this was done that the judge said he would not approve the grounds of the motion then, but that he would approve it later, and he left it blank. Judge Gober testifies that when he approved the grounds in September, he wrote in the blank the 5th of June so as to make it appear to have been approved at the April term of the court. A number of witnesses testified to the circumstances on several dates subsequent to the 5th of June, showing that the motion on these several dates had not then been approved by the judge. On the 29th of July, the following order was signed by Judge Gober, which is in the handwriting of Mr. Glenn.

STATE  vs. THOMAS PENDLEY et al. ARSON. PICKENS
SUPERIOR COURT, APRIL TERM, 1890.

In the above stated cases there being two cases on a motion for new trial by all of the defendants, four in number, and another case by all being a motion in arrest of judgment in above stated cases, having been regularly continued until the time, and the counsel for the State being unable to be present on account of illness, the same is continued to be heard at Marietta, on Monday, the 11th day of August, 1890, and up to and at said hearing movants have the right to perfect the motion for new trial in said case and the motion in arrest of judgment, and to present and have approved by the court all of the said grounds of each of said motions, together with a brief of the evidence in the record, and to be then, or in the meantime, approved by the court and filed under order of the court.

It being the intention of the order to preserve all the rights of the defendants in each case as though the same was made in term time and presented and passed upon then, and with all rights of amendment, and as though made then, and with all the rights of exception to the Supreme Court. July 29th, 1890.

GEO. F. GOBER, J. S. C. B. R. C.”

It is fair to state that Mr. Glenn contends that this order was intended solely to preserve the right of amendment to the motion for new trial. It is here presented in connection with the other testimony for the consideration of the General Assembly.

The motion for a new trial which was presented to Judge Gober on the 5th of June (at which time Mr. Glenn was not present) was brought back by Mr. Maddox, and remained in the custody of Glenn & Maddox until the 29th of July The following is the testimony of Mr. Glenn as to whether the motion for new trial had been approved by the judge during the time when it was thus in their custody:

Q. But before we come to that, I want to ask you one question. Was this motion for new trial brought back by Mr. Maddox after the 5th day of June? A. Yes, sir, that is my recollection.

Q. Was it inspected by you? A. Yes, sir?

Q. Were the grounds of that motion for new trial approved? Were those grounds at the time that that motion for new trial was brought back by Mr. Maddox and inspected by you, were they approved by Judge Gober and signed by him? A. I was very certain until this trial took place that they were. First, from the record in the case and from other circumstances connected with it, and the fact that we had the argument as upon an approved motion and no objection was taken to it, and all that sort of thing. But upon an inspection of the orders and letters here in evidence now, I am unable to say that that motion was approved when it was brought back on the 5th of June.

Mr. H. L. Patterson, a member of the bar residing in Forsyth county, who was present at the September term of Pickens Superior Court when the motion for new trial was overruled by Judge Gober, testified that he could not certify the correctness of the facts stated in the motion for new trial as it was originally presented to him. That Judge Gober then took up the motion and read one ground of the motion at a time, or as he said, would read
Mr. Patterson states that the judge spent an hour or an hour and a half in thus going over the grounds, and after he got through with it, Judge Gober said, "Well, I am willing to certify that the facts as now stated are correct." Mr. Geo. R. Brown, Mr. F. C. Tate, Mr. Jno. W. Hendley, Mr. C. B. Willingham and Mr. Henderson, who were present at the time, all state substantially the facts in accordance with the testimony of Mr. Patterson.

Mr. Maddox, one of the memorialists, was present at the time and heard what was then said by the judge. When last upon the stand, during the investigation by this committee, when questioned relative to this occurrence, he testified as follows: Q. As the judge sat on the bench delivering his judgment at the September term of Pickens Superior Court could you discover any type-written pages in there? A. Not where I was sitting, I could not. Q. Could you tell from the reading of it? A. No, sir, not merely the grounds. The judge was going on with it. I supposed he would have some notes in there. Q. Couldn't you tell that any of the grounds were changed? A. No, sir, I couldn't tell the grounds had been changed. Q. Did he state that he had changed it or would change it? A. My recollection is that I thought he would make recitals of notes where he objected to it."

This testimony taken in connection with Judge Gober's leads the minds of the committee to the conclusion that Judge Gober approved the grounds of the motion for new trial at Pickens Superior Court at the time of rendering his judgment, and that the changes in the motion for new trial were made prior to the time of such approval.

The inquiry remains as to the nature and character of the changes which it is admitted were made in this motion for new trial prior to the time when the same was approved by the court, and prior to the time when it thus became a record. It is a familiar rule that a motion for new trial when presented by counsel is merely pleading. These pleadings are in all particulars subject to the approval of the court as to all of the recitals therein contained. It is the recognized duty of the judge, when a motion for new trial is presented to examine the same, and either to disapprove it, if he does not recognize its correctness, or to change it so that it will conform to his knowledge and recollection of what transpired on the trial of the case.

The Supreme Court, when the case comes before them, rely exclusively upon the certificate of the judge as to the correctness of the grounds of the motion and as to the recitals therein. What the judge certifies to be correct, they, under the law, accept as correct, and what he fails or refuses to certify as correct, they do not recognize as correct. If the motion for a new trial as presented by a lawyer had to be accepted by the judge as correct, there would, in the large majority of cases, be a reversal of the judgment of the court below. The law reposes in the Judge of the Superior Court the duty and responsibility of making the motion for new trial speak the truth of what occurred on the trial, so far as recited in the motion for new trial. If he wrongfully refuses to make the motion speak the truth, counsel who are thus aggrieved have their remedy by application to the Supreme Court to compel the judge, by mandamus, to certify to what is true and correct in relation to the case. It is, therefore, the universal practice of judges when motions for new trial are presented to examine the same, and wherever, in his opinion, or according to his recollection, the grounds of the motion are incorrectly stated, to correct the same before certifying and approving the grounds and the recitals.

This rule and this practice are, as we understand, recognized by the memorialists, but their complaint is as to the manner and extent to which these changes were made by the judge.
The facts concerning these changes in the motion by the judge prior to the approval of the same are found by the committee to be substantially as follows:

The motion for new trial was made out in manuscript in the handwriting of Mr. Maddox, the same being closely written on the pages. Judge Gober attempted to make the corrections which he deemed proper, and wrote these corrections by interlineations and on the margin of the paper. Desiring to insert some of the charges in the motion, he found it impracticable to do so upon the manuscript pages in the original motion. He, therefore, called in the court stenographer, and instructed him to copy from the original manuscript the grounds of the motion as corrected by him; and also gave him the charge of the court, marking such portions as he directed to be copied into the motion. When this was done, the typewritten pages prepared by the court stenographer, under his direction as thus stated, were inserted in the motion for new trial, in place of the manuscript leaves which were removed. This, it will be borne in mind, was before the approval of the grounds of the motion for a new trial, and before the judgment overruling the same, and the filing of the motion in the Clerk’s office.

When the motion for new trial, as corrected, was read from the bench by Judge Gober, at the September term of Pickens Superior Court, and after the motion was then overruled, the pages of the original manuscript, which had been removed from the motion for new trial, were placed by the judge among the papers constituting the corrected motion for new trial, and the bundle containing the same was then handed by him to the clerk. There are some differences among the witnesses as to whether he placed the papers on the bench before him, and told the clerk there they were, or whether he handed them direct to the clerk. Judge Gober testifies positively that the sheets of the original manuscript, which had been removed by him, were placed by him among the papers constituting the motion for new trial, and by him given to the clerk. There is no contradictory testimony on this point. The clerk testifies that these papers, unopened by him, were given to Mr. Darnell subsequently, Mr. Darnell being one of the associate counsel for the prisoners. Mr. Darnell sent the papers to Glenn & Maddox.

The memorialists complain that the grounds of the motion as found in the paper corrected by Judge Gober, to-wit, the typewritten pages, did not contain some of the grounds which were in the original manuscript motion as they were originally stated, and that others were inserted which had not been in the original manuscript motion. Upon this statement there is an irreconcilable conflict of testimony between the memorialists and Judge Gober. Judge Gober insists that none of the assignments of error were changed, but only the recitals of fact in the grounds. He states that the grounds of the motion based on the refusal to give certain requests in charge were disallowed and taken out by him for the reason that the requests to charge set out in said motion were not the requests which had been made of him during the trial. The testimony on the subject of these requests on the part of the memorialists was given by Mr. Maddox substantially as follows:

He testified that the requests to charge which were made at the time of the trial were originally drawn by Mr. Glenn; that before presenting them to the judge, he (Mr. Maddox) copied the same, making at the time some slight verbal changes, and that the copy thus made by him was presented to the judge with a request that he would charge the same to the jury. He did not seek to recover these charges from the judge after the trial, but brought to Atlanta with him the original draft of the requests which had been prepared by Mr. Glenn. He further testified that when he prepared the motion for a new trial, in making the assignment of error on the refusals to charge the requests, he used the original paper which had been prepared by Mr. Glenn during the trial and supplied from memory the changes which he had made in the copy which he had presented to the judge on the trial. An assignment of error cannot properly be made on a written request to charge unless the copy of the request set out in the motion is a literal copy of the paper which was given to the judge. If the copy thus included in the motion for new trial is not a correct copy, the judge has the right to refuse to certify to the same and to strike the ground based thereon out of the motion for new trial. The usual practice is for counsel, when the judge refuses to give in charge a written request, to get the original paper back from the judge with an endorsement thereon from him, showing what portions of the request to charge he gave to the jury and what portions of the request to charge he refused to give to the jury. Counsel who neglect to take this precaution necessarily run the risk of losing the advantage of assignment of error upon the refusal to charge.

Judge Gober states that he inserted in certain grounds of the motion portions of the charge in order that the full context might appear. The memorialists complain that this was inserted in a way which did not show what part of the motion had originally been written by counsel and what part had subsequently been written by the judge. As the original motion for new trial does not go to the Supreme Court, but is copied into the record by the clerk, even if such distinction had been shown in the original motion by difference in handwriting, it would not appear in the certified copy which went to the Supreme Court. This difference in the certified copy which went to the Supreme Court could only have been shown by a note appended by the judge which is a practice condemned by the Supreme Court in 76 Ga. page 669.

It was shown by the production of certain records that a similar practice of changing the grounds of the motion by insertions made by the presiding judge had prevailed in that circuit under two preceding judges, the only difference being that the matter thus inserted was in the handwriting of the judges.

In the opinion of the committee, all these matters as to changes in the motion made prior to the approval of the motion are matters of practice. They may be good practice or they may be bad practice, but they are not matters which go to the extent of sustaining charges of corruption. If the changes were made after the approval of the motion and after it had thus become a record of the court, it would be otherwise.

If this practice is deemed so bad as to require its prohibition, it is a matter to be corrected by legislative enactment, but so long as it is not thus prohibited, it is not a matter for legislative inquiry and condemnation.

The same may be said of the practice of hearing argument upon a motion before the grounds are approved. In the opinion of the committee it is a bad practice, but it is unquestionably one which prevails not only in the Blue Ridge Circuit but in some other circuits of the state.

With reference to the correction of the motion for new trial in Marietta after the approval of the same, when the memorialists were present in the courthouse with the judge, there is also an irreconcilable conflict of testimony. The memorialists insist that they remained with the judge several hours, and that important changes were made, thereby restoring all of the original motion so far as they could recall it. The judge, on the contrary, testifies that the only change made was in a few lines written by himself.
correcting an assignment of error so as to conform to the wishes of the counsel, but that in no particular were the recitals of fact in the grounds changed. He further testified that they were engaged in this matter but a short time. There was corroborating testimony as to the assertions of each as to the length of time they were so engaged.

The last complaint made by the memorialists is that the judge oppressively and wantonly issued a rule against them to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt for the removal of the record in this case from Pickens Superior Court, when as they allege the judge knew that they did not have such record. The facts as shown on this point, the committee find substantially to be as follows:

At the September term, 1892, of Pickens Superior Court, the judge was applied to by the wife of Seaborn Lansdown to assist in procuring a pardon for him. He was the convict who had, on the first week of the court, in the April term, 1890, consented to a verdict of guilty. There being no evidence in the case of the party pleading guilty and the judge desiring to examine the evidence on the trial of some of the other convicts who had been tried for the same offense, called on the clerk for the papers in the case of these four convicts who had been represented by the memorialists. The information received by him from the clerk was that the papers had been given to the counsel for these men. In searching for the papers the clerk found a receipt of one of the counsel.

A rule in the usual form was issued against all of the counsel, for the purpose of recovering possession of the papers. The clerk, who brought the rule to Atlanta to serve upon the memorialists, was instructed by the judge if the papers were produced that he need not serve the rule. This rule was returnable on Monday. Having ascertained to his satisfaction that the counsel did not have the papers, on Sunday prior to the Monday, Judge Gober himself telegraphed to each of the memorialists in Atlanta as follows:

Marietta, G A., October 2.

_ Cicero D. Maddox, Attorney at Law: _

Clerk says you claim papers were returned and you have not since had them. If so you can mail such answer to clerk and you need not go.

These two dispatches he prepaid personally at a cost of $1.22. It is against the law for papers to be removed from the county without the order of the court, and when they are missing and the judge has reason to believe that any one is responsible for such removal, he has the right to issue a rule to compel their return. If it be conceded that Judge Gober was hasty in the issuance of the rule, the fact that he instructed the clerk not to serve the same upon the memorialists if they produced the papers, and the additional fact that he sent the two telegrams as above stated to save them from the annoyance and expense of attending the court in Pickens county to answer the same, certainly acquit him of any reasonable charge that the rule was issued by him oppressively and wantonly for the purpose of injuring the memorialists.

The original motion for new trial has never been recovered, nor has its loss been accounted for in any way.

It is charged that during the trial of these prisoners, the judge excluded from the court room the father of one of the prisoners and a relative of another one of the prisoners. The testimony shows that the only exclusion of any one from the court room made by the judge, was a general exclusion of all parties whose names were in the jury box, the design being to prevent them from being disqualified as jurors in the trial of other cases of a like nature. There was no specific exclusion of any individual.
Thomas J. Field, the father of one of the prisoners, testified that he was excluded under this general order and that he applied to the bailiff to get permission for him to return into the court room, he being at the time outside of the court-house. He testified that the bailiff came to the door and shook his head at him, but he does not know that any application was ever made to the judge to admit him. Another relative, who was excluded under the same general order, John G. Coffey, testified that after having been so excluded, he applied to Judge Gober for permission to remain in the court-house, and the judge permitted him to do so.

An inspection of the evidence in this case will show that a very large proportion, if not the greater part of it, relates to the questions of the personal animosities between the parties, and to the motives of the memorialists. In the opinion of the committee, this evidence is properly passed over by them without discussion or comment. The legitimate scope of a legislative investigation does not extend to the ordinary, or even unusual personal differences between court and counsel. If it did, each legislature would be burdened with investigations of this character. Legislative enquiries into judicial conduct should be limited to charges which import the graver official misdemeanors, for the correction of which the Constitution vests the solemn powers of impeachment and trial in the General Assembly. It is to the interest of the public that the dignity and influence of the bench should be maintained, as well as its purity, while it is the obligation of the State to see that the powers of the bench are not exercised either tyrannically or oppressively to the citizen.

Your committee has patiently and laboriously endeavored to arrive at the truth of this matter, and have herein set out specifically their conclusions upon each charge contained in the memorial.

Your committee herewith submits to the General Assembly the testimony taken in this investigation, and also the printed arguments of counsel, both for the memorialists and for Judge Gober, which were presented by them to the committee. The General Assembly thus has all the information by which the committee has been guided in reaching the conclusions contained in this report.

The committee, in closing this report, repeats that a vast volume of evidence was admitted in this case which would have been excluded according to the strict rules of law. Very little evidence of any kind which was offered was excluded, and in almost every instance where any evidence was excluded by the committee at any time, the same evidence was afterwards admitted, at some other time, when offered in a different connection. The entire testimony was taken down stenographically, and a careful examination of it will show that not a material or relevant fact which was offered in evidence was finally rejected.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Mr. Turner, chairman of the Committee on Penitentiary, submitted the following report:

Mr. Speaker:

The House Committee on Penitentiary have, within the limited time at their disposal, endeavored to discharge all the duties incumbent upon them in regard to this institution. And yet they are compelled to report that their examination was far from satisfactory, as all such examinations must be, when the committee is composed of so many members, and the time for such work is restricted to a few days at each session of the General Assembly. The committee would suggest that such examinations should be strict and searching, and that justice to the State, the lessees and humanity demands that no facts in connection with the treatment of convicts should ever be hidden or distorted.

The committee, as a whole, visited the camps in Dade and Walker counties, and inspected the conditions therein to the best of their ability. The camps in Dade—three in number—contain about six hundred convicts, controlled by the Dade Coal Company, who are engaged in mining coal, quarrying, and burning coke. The requirements of law appear to be complied with in these camps. The convicts are well fed, well clothed, and supplied with comfortable and clean sleeping quarters. The whites and negroes have separate sleeping apartments, and the hospital arrangements seem to be as good as could be expected under the present system. The greatest cause of complaint among the convicts at this camp arises from a rule of the company which restricts the delivery of mail to one Sunday in each month. This committee fails to see any good reason for this rule, which, in some cases, appears to be unnecessarily harsh. The committee was informed that if mail came to this camp on the day after the regular monthly delivery, the convicts were compelled to wait until the next monthly day before they received the same. The committee suggests that this rule be modified, and calls attention of the proper authorities thereto.

The condition of the camp at Crawfish Springs, operated and controlled by the Chattahoochee Brick Company, containing about two hundred convicts, who are engaged in mining and railroad building, is equally as good as those in Dade, with possibly two exceptions, to which we now call attention. Many of the convicts here engaged in mining are compelled to work day after day in water and mud, with no protection therefrom except their ordinary wearing apparel, which becomes thoroughly saturated, and, in the opinion of the committee, would be very conducive to ill-health. The local physician's attention was called to this fact, and he claimed to have recommended rubber garments for these convicts so engaged, which he said had been ordered by the lessees. This same condition may exist to some extent at Dade coal mines, but was not so forcibly impressed upon the committee. The committee would suggest that the principal keeper and principal physician of the penitentiary see that the proper amount of rubber boots and garments are provided, and that the convicts working in this exposure be compelled to wear them while so engaged.

The other exception, which in the opinion of the committee will conduce to ill health and disease, is the arrangement of the sleeping quarters. The bunks are built up from the floor, and boxed up in one continuous row, with no division or separation between them. There can be no ventilation beneath or between the bunks, and this boxed up place underneath necessarily accumulates much filth, and affords a safe retreat for vermin. The bunks at most of the other camps are separate, open underneath, and so arranged on hinges, that they can be raised and suspended against the wall, when not occupied, so that perfect ventilation and cleanliness may be secured. The local physician did not reside at this camp, as required, when our inspection was made, but we were shown a house then in course of erection, which we were informed would be occupied by him as soon as completed. We consider the actual residence of the local physician at or near these camps as of the first importance.

The Chattahoochee brick yards, in Fulton county, controlled by the Chattahoochee Brick Company, which contains about two hundred convicts engaged in making brick, was inspected by the committee as a whole. This camp is well arranged, healthful and well managed, and the condition of the convicts employed there seems to be all that could be required.

The other camps, Camp Oglethorpe in Oglethorpe county; Heardmont in Elbert; Hodo in Johnson; Dempsey, Amoskeag and Chauncey in Dodge; Wishart in Wilcox; Richwood in Dooly; Josselyn and Lanceet in Liberty; Offerman in Pierce, and Walertown in Ware, were visited and thoroughly inspected by sub-committees from our body. The camps are all reported to be in good condition, and the requirements of law complied with.

The committee could close their formal report here, but they believe it incumbent upon them to mention some evils of the present system, which are so glaring and damnable as to demand the attention and condemnation of all men. The committee was informed, and they believe their information to be true, that gambling among the convicts was indulged in, openly and notoriously, at most of these camps, especially on the Sabbath. If this be true, it cannot be too strongly condemned, or too quickly corrected.

To punish a criminal for an infraction of the law, by placing him in the penitentiary, and then allow him to openly violate another law, while being punished for the former violation, is a disgrace to justice, morality and civilization. The convict comes forth from such a place with no regret for his former crime, with no opportunity for reformation, but with his moral sensibilities completely lost, an accomplished criminal, whose after life will be devoted entirely to crime and immorality.

Another evil to which our attention was called, and which we believe exists, but which from its nature is not so easily verified, cannot be fully discussed, or reported in detail. The mere mention of the secret crimes which exist, we are informed, to a large extent among these convicts, should make the citizens of Georgia demand, with one voice, a radical change in the system, if not its complete abolition, as soon as it can be legally done. In our opinion, these convicts should be effectually separated at night, in their sleeping apartments, so that absolutely no communication be had among them. This only will prevent a continuation of that crime which cannot be named or written without a revulsion of feeling amounting to horror.

In view of the foregoing, perhaps the most horrible phase of this institution is the fact that all classes of criminals are confined together, in daily intimate association, whether they have been adjudged guilty of crimes involving moral turpitude or not. The man who in the heat of passion has committed an assault upon, or taken the life of another, is here forced to intimate association, day and night, year after year, with perjurers, thieves, burglars and murderers. The result cannot be questioned. He sinks to the level of his associates, and the victim of misfortune becomes a moral leper.

In this vast school of crime, according to the report of the Principal Keeper, in the past two years have been confined one hundred and twenty-five youths of sixteen years and younger. Sixty-four of these were convicted of burglary, of which number twenty-eight were sixteen years of age, fourteen were fifteen years, nine were fourteen years, four were thirteen years, five were twelve years, two were ten years and one only eight years of age. Five were convicted of horse-stealing, two of whom were sixteen years, two fifteen and one thirteen years of age.

Thirteen were convicted of assault with intent to murder, of whom nine were sixteen years, three fifteen years and one eleven years of age. Four were convicted of arson, one at fifteen years, one at fourteen, one at eleven and one at sixteen years of age. One was convicted for attempt to commit arson; he is fifteen years of age. Six were convicted of simple larceny, of whom two were sixteen, two were fourteen, and two were twelve years of age. Three were convicted of forgery, two at the age of sixteen and one at the age of fourteen years. Seven were convicted of rape, five at sixteen, one at fifteen and one at eleven years of age. Six were convicted for attempt to rape, four at sixteen, one at fifteen, and one at thirteen years of age. Two were convicted for shooting at another not in his own defense; they were each sixteen years of age. Ten were convicted of murder and are now serving sentence for life. Five of these were sixteen, two fifteen, two fourteen, and one twelve years of age. Three were convicted for manslaughter; two at sixteen, and one at fifteen years of age. One was convicted for bestiality, who was sixteen years of age. These boys, many of them were children, might possibly be reformed under different circumstances; but under their present surroundings will soon become educated criminals, beyond the hope of reformation and the pale of law. The State of Georgia, in punishing them for crime in the manner of its infliction, becomes responsible for the utter wreck of their moral character.

We believe that the present officers, who have charge of this institution, are capable and efficient, and discharge their duties to the best of their ability. We believe that the lessees are endeavoring to comply with their contract with the State, and that neither are entirely responsible for these great evils. The gambling and nameless crimes mentioned could be corrected to some extent by a co-operation between the officers and lessees. But the greater evils herein named must always exist under the present system, and for their existence the system alone is responsible.

In conclusion, this committee would suggest that the system could be much improved by legislation which would place a trusted officer at each of these camps, who, upon the part of the State, would have actual personal supervision of every detail, and whose duty it would be to see that all requirements of law were strictly enforced.

Respectfully submitted.

JOSEPH S. TURNER, Chairman.
